September 21 would be followed by the calling of another election at which the school board of five members would be chosen. This body would call the bond election. As election officers in the Newport Beach district Mitchell named Mrs. Florence Summers, Miss Mabel Baker and Harry Hyde. For the Costa Mesa district he named as election officers Mrs. Ida Spaulding, Mrs. Frances T. Dodge and Mrs. Margaret E. Stearns. The polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The petitions were circulated by Donald Dodge, Charles W. Te-Winkle, Freeman A. Daley, L. H. Vannest, Frank E. Straight, B. F. Chaplin, Roy L. Davis and F. W. Opp, of Costa Mesa; C. H. Shook, Balboa Island; C. E. Dickey, Balboa; M. Simberg, Newport Beach; J. Meurs, East Newport; J. H. Summers, Newport Beach; G. W. Kitzmiller, Balboa Island; Hal Will Smith, Balboa Island; Lloyd Claire, Newport Beach; Harry D. Hyde, Balboa; and Howard Cloyes, Corona Del Mar.

The petitions were circulated and the election made possible by an act of the last state legislature. The movement for a harbor high school started several years ago but its formation was impossible under existing laws.

PROTOCOL IS SIGNED BY HAGUE DELEGATES

THE HAGUE, Aug. 30.—(UP)—The delegates of the "Big Six" met today and signed the protocol embodying the Rhineland and other agreements which were concluded at yesterday's session.

In conjunction with the protocol, five powers, without Japan, signed a common accord regarding the submission of all difficulties arising in the demilitarized zone to a conciliation commission.

France, Britain and Belgium addressed a common letter Germany concerning the detail of the Rhineland evacuation as provided for in the accord arrived at yesterday. The letter contains three annexes, one of which stipulates the conditions of amnesty for political offenses committed during the period of occupation. Germany addressed her answering letter to the three occupying powers jointly.

THIS KINDA 'STUFF' SIMPLY MEAN ON 'HOTTEST DAY' IN OPINION OF CUB REPORTER

No one realizes the trials inquiring reporters are subjected to on mid-day jaunts for news. Hot weather is not inspirational to the good nature that oftentimes tips the cub to an occasional story.

Meanness is accentuated these days. But what can be done about it? If you don't think so, here's the true story of one journey today: Behold the witted reporter among other highly faded citizens oozing down the street on sidewalks swept with humanity. The constant "good morning" is becoming damp and disheartening—why doesn't something happen? Then a result! Oh joy—here's the dope. Big news item, maybe? Right here with a pie in one hand and a cake in the other.

"Good morning, Mr. A. J. Lasby, how about a big news item today?"

"Well, well how do you do—(chatter, chatter, etc.) 'Sorry I can't help you out any. But wait—did you hear about the woman that walked off of Newport pier with a baby in her arms this morning?"

"No," exclaiming hopefully and sniffing for more details—"do you know anything about it? What did she do it for?"

"Oh, she wanted to go home, so she walked off the shore end!"

Mean is too mild—that was downright beastly.

73 LOSE LIVES WHEN STEAMER SINKS IN CRASH

line 50 miles from San Francisco. A thick fog blanket hung over the California coast at the time of the crash, and, undoubtedly, was the cause of the greatest tragedy of the Pacific in many years.

The horror filled minutes that followed the crash saw the happy band of vacationists, most of whom were bound for vacations in Southern California, turned into a panic stricken mob.

Many of the passengers and crew, it was learned through radio dispatches, had retired for the night and it is feared many perished almost at the same time the waters swirled above the sunken vessel.

But along with the scene of tragedy and panic, there were bursts of heroism. One picture the gray Captain Asplund standing on the bridge, going to his death with the ship he was piloting so that its regular captain could go on vacation.

The grided veteran of the sea came from retirement to favor his friend, Captain Winkler. Three years ago Captain Asplund left the sea and bought a home in the exclusive Ingleside terrace residential section.

He had amassed a comfortable fortune and left with his 22 year old daughter, Carolyn.

"Down With Ship"

"Daddy never had an accident of any sort. I know he is safe," Carolyn told the United Press and no one had the heart to tell her of a crisp radio message that crackled out from the Munami:

"Asplund down with ship."

And true to their calling were the sailors of the Dodd and Munami. Braving the peril created by dense fog and a choppy sea, they launched tiny life boats and with frantic speed pulled members of the crew and passengers of the San Juan aboard.

As the rescue work continued, the winds abated and the sea calmed somewhat but the blanket of fog hung on.

A touch of despair was seen in radio messages this morning that the Dodd was enroute to San Francisco with its load of bedraggled survivors of the disaster who were so lighthearted and gay just a few hours ago.

A number of passengers on the Dodd are said to be suffering from injuries and are in need of medical attention.

The Munami, too, left the scene of the wreck and probably will put in at Santa Cruz.

Because the two ships departed, giving up the hunt, little hope was entertained for the missing persons, although it is possible that some reached the isolated and barren coast line.

Rugged Shore Line

The vicinity of the accident, which may prove to be the worst catastrophe of the Pacific, is an uninhabited rugged bit of shore line. There are no towns and few people in the vicinity of Pigeon Point, although that spot was teeming with life today as throngs of the curious drove out there from bay district cities.

The ghastly suddenness of the accident stilled many of the panic-stricken screams—just as it wiped out the ship's radio power and quieted the blast of the vessel's fog horn.

While the Munami and Dodd were steaming for ports, two coast guard cutters, the Shawnee and Tahoe, left San Francisco for the vicinity of the wreck to take up search for survivors and for bodies.

At 9 a. m. P. S. T., no reports of bodies being found had been received. At that hour previous reports of 37 being known safe were confirmed through the Mackay-Federal radio.

There is a tragic similarity between the ending of the old San Juan, which was built in Chester, Pa., 47 years ago, and the death of Captain Asplund who first went to sea, before the mast in his native Sweden 55 years ago.

Asplund had sailed the seven seas, in wind and in steam, for 50 years as he went to sea when 12 years old and retired three years ago, coming out of his retirement yesterday to make the trip from San Francisco to Los Angeles and return.

Free From Trouble

A good ship in her day was the old San Juan. After the war she earned her original purchase price each time she made a round trip to Central America and she was the sort of craft sailormen liked—a ship singularly free from trouble.

And a good sailor was the gallant

Asplund, a jovial, bighearted man. The tragedy of the cold grey hours of early today was the first accident he experienced in 50 years of seagoing.

There is no doubt but that the buffeting of the seas for 47 years took a heavy toll in strength from the San Juan. Her old timbers shivered and crumpled instantly when she crashed with the oil tanker.

Leaving general international trade channels a few years ago, the San Juan was relegated to the humble task of carrying passengers up and down the California coast on a low fare basis.

The advertised rate was $8, $9 and $10 per passenger, an exceptionally low fare for journey between California's principal ports—a distance of more than 400 miles.

Great difficulty was being experienced in compiling a complete list of passengers as the White Nylver line, owner of the San Juan and Humboldt, its only other ship, sold tickets in many broker offices about the city.

Sales also were made at the dock at the last minute. The boat usually carried her capacity in passengers.

GRAF ZEPPELIN RETURNS HOME LATE SATURDAY

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKE-HURST, N. J., Aug. 30.—(UP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener arrived by plane from Washington at 9:10 a. m.

Dr. E. S. T., today and left by train for New York to be honored there as the first commercial circumnavigator of the world by air. He was scheduled to arrive in Jersey at 11:03 a. m. to board the Macom which will dock at the Battery.

Eckener was accompanied from Washington by Dr. O. C. Kier, charge d'affaires of the German embassy. Capt. Ernst Lehmann and Capt. Hans Fleming of the Graf and 13 others of the world circling crew accompanied the commander to New York.

Additional repairs were found necessary on the Graf Zeppelin today when inspection revealed a cracked reserve oil tank in number 4 motor gondola forward on the port side. The tank of aluminum cracked in Japan and the new crack is parallel to the old one. No difficulty was presented by the repair job, station mechanics said.

The new rudder section fabricated for the Graf here was in place but remained to be covered with fabric.

Traffic Piles Up

Traffic began to pile up inside the station long before noon. A larger crowd than the 50,000 which visited the Graf yesterday was on the way.

The Graf was left here in charge of Capt. Ernst Von Schiller and Gretchen, the duck.

Gretchen is the most ridiculous bird imaginable. She is blue with yellow bill and yellow tail. Pipe stem legs a foot long protrude beneath her body and poor Gretchen has policemen's feet. She is cotton wadding inside and cloth outside and her position on shipboard is in the front windows of the control room where she can keep a sharp eye out for potential trouble.

Next in importance after Gretchen comes a wooly dog, likewise stuffed, a plaster of paris Japanese crane and a cap band worn by Japanese sailors. Each of these mascots is an omen of good luck aboard the Zeppelin and each is accorded the honor of an appointed place of repose.

Motors Overhauled

Overhauling the Graf's motors began today while riggers completed repairs to the rudder damaged in the takeoff from Los Angeles. August 27. Repairs and refueling were expected to be completed by noon tomorrow and 4 p. m. has been fixed as the deadline. The Graf may get away any time after 10 p. m. when the passengers have been instructed to be aboard.

Three American naval officers will be invited to make the flight to Friedrichshafen starting tomorrow night, F. W. Von Meister, representing the Maybach Motor company announced. Their identities were not revealed and it was understood selections had not been made.

Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl and Lieut. Jack C. Richardson, of this station, were guests on the round the world trip which ended here yesterday.

The Graf has gone dry, Captain Von Schiller told the United Press today. The Volstead condition is an involuntary tribute to the thirst of the passengers who traveled in the airship from Tokyo. Von Schiller said the supply of alcoholic beverages was consumed in the flight across the Pacific and none rejured himself slightly when he jumped through the hole in the roof to the aid of his pilot.

Kirk could give no explanation of the crash. He said the plane veered toward the roof and he leaped instinctively. Capt. Daniel Glasser, Chicago, an eyewitness, said Lady Heath swerved to miss a smoke stack and then dove into the roof.

First fame gained by Lady Heath as a flier was in 1927 when she made a solo flight across Africa from Capt Town to London. In reality a scientific farmer with a degree from Dublin university, she went in for flying and gained a reputation as being one of the best. At the age of 32 she had reached the peak of popularity among women fliers when she crashed. She won in a speed race here Tuesday and took a great interest in gliders, going up in one at every opportunity.

Last January she applied for citizenship papers and a refusal to pay her debts followed from her husband, Sir James Heath, 76, an Englishman.

Official permission for the flight is lacking as yet but the order is expected momentarily, according to Stanley Hedburg, representing United Aircraft.

Captain Baker's first attempt failed here Wednesday night when a large can of oil broke loose from the rope of the refueling ship and crashed through a wing of the endurance plane. He had made the hop from Oakland, Calif., to New York and was returning when the accident occurred.

Dr. Eckener said singing and "drinking much wine" were the principal diversions of passengers on the flight from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst three weeks ago.

STEELE FINLEY GETS CONTRACT FOR STATE JOB

Steele Finley, Santa Ana contractor, has been awarded a contract by the state highway commission for paving with asphalt 14 miles of state highway between Atascadero and Paso Robles, for $270,000, according to information revealed here today. Finley, who has been in business here for the last 18 years, now is in the north seeing to the establishment of a plant for the state job.

Work will be started as soon as his present contract for 11 miles of asphalt pavement on the state highway near Upland has been completed. When the Upland job is finished, it will make a completed asphalt street of the foothill boulevard from Los Angeles to San Bernardino.

After completing the Paso Robles work, Finley will have constructed over 50 miles of asphalt roads for the state in the last three years.

AT 94 HE STILL WANTS TO MARRY

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Aug. 30. (UP)—He was 94 years old, but his ideas were young, and he was quite insistent that County Clerk H. E. Miller allow him to file notice of his intention to apply for a marriage license.

That no woman accompanied him did not embarrass him. In fact, he admitted, he had no particular woman in view, but if the clerk would wait "just a few moments" he would go out and get one.

He gave his name as John J. Peters, residence Santa Barbara, "on a tour with the whole family."

On the courthouse steps, where the clerk followed him, he was met by two men.

"Hello, Grandad, trying to get married again?" queried one.

It was learned that Peters insists on getting married whenever he arrives at a county seat.

FORMER SANTA ANA WOMAN ACHIEVES LITERARY CAREER DESPITE HEALTH HANDICAP

When a career which offers every promise of success that may be imagined, is suddenly halted and blasted by an unexpected blow, and yet the victim with unflinching courage, gathers together the shattered fragments of her life and starts in to build anew, there is a lesson that will be of incalculable value for everyone, according to Mrs. Alfred V. Gray, 523 West Walnut street, in her recollections of Dr. Ann Evelyn Perry of Los Angeles, a graduate of Santa Ana high school.

Mrs. Gray, who will be remembered by Santa Ana high school pupils of two decades ago as Miss Minnie Moore, teacher of English and history in the school, recalls with much interest her associations with Dr. Perry, then a student in her classes, and points to her achievement in having just received from the publishers, the first volume of her book of poems, "Songs of Life," soon to be distributed among book stores of the Southland.

Had Tragic Difficulties

"We Santa Ana people may well be proud of our high school graduating class of 1909," declared Mrs. Gray, and continued with the story of the author's life, a story in which tragic difficulties have been met and overcome with rare courage.

"After completing her high school course in this city, Miss Perry entered a nurses' training school," stated Mrs. Gray. "After her graduation there she served for one year as superintendent of nurses in the Oxnard hospital and gave her time to the study of medicine and osteopathy, winning her M. D. degree.

"When America joined the Allies in the World War, Dr. Perry immediately volunteered to go to France as a nurse, and on her way to Bakersfield to say goodbye to her mother, the motor-bus in which she was travelling tipped over and in the accident the Santa Ana girl received serious injuries to her spine. For months she lay in a Los Angeles hospital and when finally she was able to be moved she was taken to the home of one of her fellow medical students, Dr. Lilla Vance, who for years gave her a devoted care and constant encouragement.

"Today Dr. Perry has recovered to the point where she uses a wheel chair and is self-supporting from her work in bacteriology in the laboratory which has been fitted up in her own little home in the rear of Dr. Vance's home. She does all her work from the wheel chair, which she declares has been a graduate course in her studies of adjustment of life."

Poems Express Spirit

According to Mrs. Gray, the brave spirit of Dr. Perry and her intense love of the freedom which has been denied her, finds full expression in her poetry, but that freedom of the soul rather than the body, for her courageous spirit has recognized that she cannot yet be freed from the wheel chair.

"Her love of Southern California finds ample expression as well in these poems," declared Mrs. Gray, quoting:

"I love the pink tips of the grapevine leaves
When first they unfold in spring;
I love the nest the oriole builds
And I love all birds on the wing.

I love the shining tops of the blue-gum trees
With the shadows down below;
I love the deep of the far blue sky
In the evening's after-glow."
Another poem from the collection which strongly impressed Mrs. Gray with its love and appreciation of nature's moods, is "I saw a sycamore today
In a vale of shifting sands.
Waiting for the tender rain
To wash its face and hands.

"Tis strange that tears should come to me
When my thoughts are weaving dreams,
But I was a child where sycamores
Grew along the streams."

EXHIBIT AT FAIR SHOWS WORK OF HEALTH CAMP

One of the most interesting and inspirational exhibits at the Orange County fair, has been found in the display of Health camp activities. That the county is making the best of what it has to help "Your Child and Mine" regain and maintain the strength which is childhood's birthright is strikingly evident.

Information revealed at the fair to citizens who heretofore have little realized the splendid work which is under way in the Orange County Children's Health camp has shown them the privilege that is theirs to help bring under-nourished, sub-standard children to the point of robust health.

Fifty children, the largest number that camp facilities can now accommodate, are playing the "health game" in the camp, which is located a quarter of a mile west of Irvine park. On the banks of the Santiago creek, a veritable paradise of sheltering live oaks and sycamore trees, the site is considered one of the loveliest in Southern California.

Day's Program Told
A visit to the fair exhibit affords a pictured program of a day in camp. At 6:30 a. m., the children take calisthenics with the precision of interested health crusaders. They answer the rising bell at 6 a. m., joyously romping to the showers, completing their toilets and passing physical inspection before entering the exercise field. Then, 20 minutes later, Americanism is instilled deeply in the minds of these children, varying in age from 4 to 12 years, who are impressed with the spirit that follows flag raising, salute and patriotic singing.

Two lines of appetite-whetted youngsters enter the "mess hall" at 7 o'clock, when they are served a menu chock full of body building vitamins. Here is the typical breakfast: Steaming hot cereal, with rich milk and sugar; a cup of fruit juice; crisp brown toast; generous helping of pure home-made jam and a cup of cocoa.

Children assemble for squad work in the clinic at 7:45 a. m., and the mental tuning turns what is ordinarily an irksome duty into a pleasurable performance. At 9 o'clock they take advantage of the free play period, romping here and there, playing ball, inspecting their pet animal quarters, fashioning kites, airplanes and sundry other industries peculiar to children.

Mid-morning nourishment is received at 10 o'clock and the cool glasses of fresh orange juice are eagerly sought before the rest period of two hours.

A health building dinner is served at noon and today might include salmon loaf, mashed potatoes, creamed carrots, lettuce salad with French dressing, bread, butter, glass of rich whole milk, fruit cup and cookies. Then the "clean plate" record is taken and monitors take pride in the tasks of removing dishes and clearing up the tables.

Vigorous Toothbrush Drill
"Vim and Vigor" mark the toothbrush drill immediately following dinner and a 45-minute rest period starts at 1:15 p. m. Temperatures are taken at 3 o'clock, followed by the mid-afternoon nourishment of a glass of cool whole milk. Then the children again enter a free play period, where excess energy is worked off in the thrill of childhood games.

The supper bell sounds at 5:15 p. m. and children wash up after play to enjoy the mess hall. On the plates tonight we might find oatmeal cheese with pineapple and onion; eggs, sardine and peanut butter sandwiches; milk and baked apple.

Unavoidable bruises to shins and knees, splinters and scratches are administered to by a registered nurse after supper. After 15 minutes of play in the early shadows of evening, the children are tucked into bed in the open air dormitories. So ends the daily program.

Some of the immediate needs of the camp include 10-bed pavilion for hospitalizing sick children, a building to house the staff, an individual water system, a heating plant, modern kitchen equipment and dining room equipment and modern desks to fit the various age groups.

From the opening of the summer health camp, on June 14, 1928, until the close of the year, March 31, 1929, officials at the camp had cared for 123 children and discharged 94, who were passed by the medical staff as returned to normal. The present equipment of the Orange County Health camp represents an investment of approximately $20,000.

ORDER INQUEST INTO DEATH OF ORANGE YOUTH

The death of 11-year-old Jesus Hernandez, Orange boy, who died yesterday afternoon as a result of injuries received yesterday morning when a 300-pound cake of ice fell on him from the top of a refrigerator car at an arroyo packing house as he was playing around the car with some companions, will be the subject of a coroner's inquest.

The inquest was scheduled to take place in the Gillogly Funeral parlors, in Orange, at 1:30 this afternoon.

The boy had his foot practically torn off at the ankle and the bones of the leg so badly shattered that amputation was necessary. He was unable to withstand the strain of the shock and the loss of blood that followed the accident before he could be placed in the care of surgeons. A blood transfusion was made in an effort to replenish the strength of the lad.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

COMPLETE WORK ON GAS SYSTEM SOON

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 30.—Work on the central distributing system of the Southern Counties Gas company in San Clemente will be finished next week, according to Henry H. Lebert, foreman of the Mecca Construction company, Los Angeles, which is laying the pipes. About 4,000 feet of pipe is laid daily. More than 55,000 feet of pipe will be laid in San Clemente.

With the completion of the work here the Mecca company will start laying the 14-mile stretch from Laguna Beach to the San Diego county line at the south end of the city limits of San Clemente. A 12-inch pipe will carry the gas from Laguna Beach to San Clemente.

The Mecca company has laid all but 2,000 feet of the San Juan Capistrano system. It is said that by November 1 work on the system will be completed and San Clemente and San Juan Capistrano residents will be using Southern Counties gas.

ALEX IN HIS PRIME

Grover Cleveland Alexander, recently sent home by the Vards' management for infractions of the training rules, fanned 241 men during the season of 1915. He won 31 games that year for the Phils.

HUSBAND WAS DEPENDENT ON HER, SAYS WIFE

Claiming that she has supported her husband, Maxwell T. Edlin, since their marriage, on Aug. 5, 1927, and asserting that he has declared that he is mentally and physically superior to her and that his rights as a husband justify him in his course and exempt him from duty or responsibility, Lucille W. Oliver Edlin today filed suit for divorce against her husband.

Edlin has developed a peculiar mental state and asserts that he is above the material things of life, according to the complaint.

Mrs. Edlin stated in the complaint that her husband has been actuated by mercenary motives and related that on Christmas, 1927, they went to San Francisco to see his relatives. She financed the trip, she said. When the time came to pass around gifts, he gave presents to all members of his family but gave none to her, she said.

"My folks come first," the complaint said he remarked.

Mrs. Edlin's complaint said she left him at their Yorba Linda home on August 19 because of his actions. She owns eight acres of land and a house there, in which they have lived, which she claimed was her personal property, acquired before their marriage. Edlin owns a lot in Los Angeles, she said, asking that the court award her a suitable sum for her support. Mrs. Edlin is a school teacher in Los Angeles, according to the complaint. She asked that her former name, Lucille W. Oliver, be restored to her.

OFFICERS SOLVE EXPLOSIVE THEFT

The theft of 2000 caps and 250 pounds of 60 per cent dynamite from the powder magazine of the O. J. Hawley company, located on West Seventeenth street, near the Santa Ana river, was solved yesterday, according to police officials, with the arrest of a 16-year-old Tustin school boy.

The lad is said to have confessed that he and another boy broke off the locks of the magazine and took the explosive.

They are reported to have fashioned home-made "fire crackers" out of the explosive, putting it in tin cans, attaching a short fuse and hurling it into the air.

ORIENTALS ARE BARRED RESULT OF MENINGITIS SEPTEMBER 1

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, received notice today from the state department of health that President Hoover has signed an executive order prohibiting entrance to the United States, its possessions or dependencies, of passengers from ports in China or the Philippine islands for such time as may be deemed necessary except under such conditions as may be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury.

The order is designed to facilitate quarantine enforcement to prevent entrance of persons who may bring to the United States cerebrospinal meningitis infection. The order pointed out that since November, 1928, 17 trans-Pacific ships have entered ports with this infection aboard among Oriental steerage passengers.

The milder but equally strong interest in the prize awards, led to quite a demonstration of satisfaction around the striking Pomona exhibit, with its typical "prairie schooner" and desert camp scene. In addition to this sweepstakes cup, a special cur award was recommended by the judges, to the floral exhibit of the Macre nurseries of Anaheim, on the grounds of attractiveness and value to the fair, to La Habra Farm center for the most artistic exhibit, and to the Orange County Firemen's association for the most educational exhibit.

In the plate department where rare and varied fruits and vegetables are on display, much interest attaches to the largest orange cluster contest. Yesterday saw

PICNIC FIRST-AID

When taking the family on a picnic, it is well to include a little first-aid kit with disinfectant, gauze, and other things from the medicine shelf that the children might need.

KEJK WILL OFFER RADIO SHOW TALENT

Artists who will make an appearance at the forthcoming radio show, which opens to the public Monday, will give a half hour program through KEJK, Beverly Hills, tonight at 8 o'clock. Majestic

Why a Majestic?

BECAUSE Majestic has proven to the world they could build one of the finest radios possible at the lowest price, and has been a sensation in the radio world ever since they built the first radio a little more than a year ago. BECAUSE the cabinet work on the Majestic is absolutely the finest that can be. BECAUSE there is absolutely NO HUM on a Majestic radio. BECAUSE it is easy to operate; even the youngest child or oldest person can easily operate a Majestic radio. BECAUSE the Majestic Radio Company has one of the largest plants in the world, at present making approximately 7,000 radios a day. BECAUSE it is fully licensed and uses only standard makes of tubes.

Why from

O. S. Peterson Co.

BECAUSE the radio is little better than the guarantee and the service of the local dealer who installs and services it. The O. S. Peterson Company is noted for their wonderful service policy of absolutely satisfying the customer. BECAUSE there is probably no other house in Santa Ana that is so well equipped to render efficient and quick service as the O. S. Peterson Company. BECAUSE no house in Santa Ana has ever offered such credit conveniences, a real advantage to you in money and convenience. BECAUSE our stock is always fresh and new; our turn-over is probably faster than any other store in Southern California.

WOMEN TENNIS STARS CHANGE BACKHAND PLAY

BY MARY K. BROWNE

(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Women's tennis tournaments this summer have proved that in three departments of play feminine stars have advanced notably.

The most conspicuous development is the backhand stroke which has changed from a purely defensive to an aggressive weapon, and it's the form from a chop to a drive stroke. It is no longer possible to win matches from top notchers by simply pounding their backhand.

Second, women have perfected a free arm over hand service which they place beautifully, keep in court regularly and score points outright on its speed. Formerly their service merely put the ball in play.

Third, women not only use the forecourt against their opponents, but advance to that position in their own territory and volley with crispness and a more intelligent understanding and daring use of angles. The women show a far greater courage in going for placements and a more imposing percentage succeed. They are lighter on their feet and more in their all-important hitting position with greater accuracy and facility.

Hit Harder
The girls hit the tennis ball harder and their strokes are swifter with each succeeding year. When I say this I mean speed per shot because, of course, I have seen May Bundy and others hit an occasional drive as hard as Helen Wills' swiftest, but there never was such sustained speed. Combined with fascinating finesse the incidental "long and short of it."

There is another change which is significant. The women who are playing today in the top ranks of tennis put themselves up far less often as a target for their rivals, and therefore take less risk in being defeated because they do not sharpen the games of their opponents, also they conserve their energy and have more stamina, an important factor in pulling out a close match.

On my first trip east in 1912 I played in a tournament every week from June till October and would play as many as five matches in a day and often as many as six sets in practice, whereas now Helen Wills for instance, plays only in championship events, in one singles and one doubles match a day and never more than two sets of practice. She does not drive herself to the limit of her endurance and never allows herself to become stale or indifferent as to results.

The champions are jealous of their positions which are far more important than they were 17 years ago. It is unfortunate in a sense as tennis is a game where the rising players are dependent on the better players to buck up against in order to raise the level of their own game, as the standard of the game rests with the champion. Top notchers of today are not exactly generous in this respect towards their rivals.

WILL REPLACE OLD BUILDING ON 5TH STREET

SEVENTY-FIVE officers of Santa Ana Masonic and allied organizations, meeting for dinner last night, unanimously and enthusiastically endorsed plans to finance and build a new $250,000 Masonic temple on the property now used by the fraternity at Fifth and Sycamore streets, within a year.

The plans were presented by S. M. Reinhaus, president of the Santa Ana Masonic Temple association, incorporated, and Dr. L. L. Whitson, chairman of a special building committee created some time ago for the purpose of working out a construction program.

The new temple, according to Whitson, will be one of the finest of its size on the Pacific coast. It is to be financed through an immediate stock selling campaign by means of which members of the order in Santa Ana and others who may wish to do so will invest directly in the temple property.

Occupying the same property upon which the present Santa Ana Masonic Temple has stood since 1903, the new structure will rise three stories above the ground and will be sufficiently large to care for the growing needs of the fraternity for many years. The old temple is to be razed.

Two Lodge Rooms

In describing the new temple Whitson said that there will be two large lodge rooms, one seating up to 500 persons and the other seating more than 150 persons. The larger of these two rooms, together with its complement of lockers, dressing rooms, officers' quarters, and the like will occupy most of the third floor of the new building. On the ground floor there will be ladies' parlors and recreation rooms for men, including card and billiard facilities, check rooms and other accommodations devoted exclusively to the comfort and enjoyment of members as individuals.

A beautiful banquet hall and ballroom will be a feature of the new structure and, as is common in such construction now, will be located below ground. The banquet room will be equipped with the last word in serving and kitchen facilities. Upon occasion it can be converted into a small auditorium. Used as a dining room it can seat more than 500, and as an auditorium nearly 1000. All floors will be reached by means of an elevator.

Special equipment will be included for use of the women's organizations, including the Eastern Star chapters and the White Shrine. And the new temple will also incorporate features for the work of the Chapter, Council and Commandery of the York Rite Masonic bodies.

Reinhaus, in outlining the plan through which the building is to be financed, said a campaign for the sale of stock to members of the fraternity will be launched either late in September or the first week in October. Solicitation of subscriptions will be confined to Masons and their families, although others may purchase the stock if they should care to do so.

The financial structure of the new building will involve changing the present incorporation of the Temple Association and its name, so that the new name of the holding corporation will be Santa Ana Masonic Temple Association Ltd. This is in accordance with a recent act of the legislature and makes it possible for the fraternity to issue stock to its members which, while participating in any future earnings, carries no liability and is non-assessable.

No Profit Venture

Reinhaus explained that the temple project is not looked upon as a profit-making venture. A sufficient income will be derived from rentals paid to the association by tenants of the new building to easily maintain the overhead costs of operating the structure and should, in a year or two, leave a small surplus, each year. Such a surplus is, however, in no way assured.

According to Reinhaus the stock will eventually be taken up, though, by the Santa Ana Masonic bodies themselves, so that eventually no individual, or very few individuals would own any stock in the temple. This was the case with the temple structure now in use, stock of which at the present time is almost entirely in the hands of the Masonic bodies as organizations.

It was also stated at the meeting last night that, while plans as outlined by Dr. Whitson of the building committee will be adhered to as closely as possible, the building of as large and fine a temple as has been provided for in the specifications will depend entirely upon the funds available for its construction and, in the analysis, the kind of temple built will be determined entirely by the amount of funds secured in the campaign and made available for building purposes.

The building committee which has had in charge the work of planning the new temple is composed of the following well known Santa Ana Masons:

Dr. L. L. Whitson, chairman; Asa Hoffman, Charles F. Mitchell, Alex. Brownridge, Dr. J. E. Paul, Dr. W. P. Baker, J. G. Sutherland, W. L. Duggan and J. Clyde Horton.

Directors of the Santa Ana Masonic Temple Association are: S. M. Reinhaus, president; L. F. Harvey, vice president; Dr. L. L. Whitson, E. B. Smith, Charles F. Mitchell, Albert F. Hill, Asa Hoffman, William Iverson, J. T. Carter, C. D. Brown and J. P. Williams.

A headquarters office for the financial campaign which is to make the new temple building possible has been opened at 427 N.

Sycamore street, with a staff working under the direction of the Temple Association in organizing for the campaign.

BACK SEAT AUTO DRIVERS PRAISED

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 30.—Hats off to the back seat driver. She not only prevents automobile accidents but also saves human lives by her perpetual instructions. If medals were in order, every back seat driver should receive one.

Such is the opinion of the state department of public works, which has officially recognized the back seat driver as a potent factor in its campaign of accident prevention.

A review of automobile fatalities last year disclosed that a motorist and a half in a car constitutes one wreck and five motorists no wreck at all. The majority of automobile accidents occur when an average of 1.5 persons occupy the machine with no back seat driver to guide. The fewest accidents occur when the car is well loaded, several of whom are presumably back seat drivers.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach
With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, follow the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful of four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.—Adv.

"Right from the start I knew Sargon was different from any other medicine I had ever taken. I could feel its invigorating effects throughout my whole system and now, for the first time in twenty years, I am enjoying the best of health.

"My stomach had gotten in such bad condition I was afraid nothing could be done to correct it. After meals I used to be in awful pain for hours from gas. Dysentery troubled me constantly and I had such severe backaches and was so nervous that it was all I could do to keep going. I hardly ever got a good night's sleep."

"Almost from the first dose of Sargon I could feel relief. The gas pains soon disappeared entirely and the backaches have left me. Sargon Soft Mass Pills have regulated me perfectly and got rid of my dysentery completely. I feel fit and fine all day long now and get plenty of good, sound sleep. I never have an ache or pain."

"I wish I'd had Sargon twenty years ago—it would have saved me much suffering and a lot of money."

Smiling Golfer
George Von Elm
... Bobby Jones has a score to settle with him ... It may be settled at this year's National Amateur.

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

SOME important matters will be brought up for adjustment when the gentlemen who play golf for fun assemble on Monterey Peninsula, California, September 2 to decide the 1929 National Amateur Golf Championship. One of these affairs dates back to 1926 when a gentleman, insurance and bond salesman and golfer from Los Angeles named George Von Elm, rolled a short putt deftly into the cup at Baltusrol, N. J., and accepted the congratulations of the defeated Bobby Jones, 2 up 1.

Jones this year is coming right over into Von Elm's own back yard and the 1927 victory of Von Elm stands to receive a whole lot of testing in view of the kind of pool Mr. Jones has been displaying here and there recently.

The Atlanta lawyer has been putting up a game that is hard to beat, true, but there are some factors at Pebble Beach that did not enter into the equation a Winged Foot in the Open Tournament this year. Pebble Beach has winds, zephyrs, breezes, gales—call them what you like, according to the part of the country you come from—and to shoot good golf there, you've got to be friendly with these draughts.

George Von Elm finds these breezes what the people of the north country call "Chinook" or friendly winds. Whether they are to be "Chinook" also to the great golf navigator from Atlanta remains to be shown. It is true that winds do not mean a whole lot to a man's putting game, and that putting is the game Jones invented and copyrighted, but it is also true that the zephyrs do exert queer fancies with drives and approaches. The fact is, seaside golf is different.

The short-pants folk who have shot 80 with ease on the inland courses are likely to discover a couple of 6's on their cards before they have gone a great way at Pebble Beach, and maybe a 7 here and there, even though the climate is wonderful. And by the same token, the 69 boys probably will be found compressing their eyebrows slightly when they add up at No. 18 at Pebble Beach and find that the total is 78.

EIGHT holes at Pebble Beach directly border the Pacific. You could throw a club into the ocean if you got mad enough. Kibitzers can be found who will tell you that Jones used to cast his sticks afar when the shots were going awry, but he has given up this hurling practice. During the last few years Bobby just looks at the darn club when he pulls a bad shot, and there are clubs in Jones' bag that have not had a hard look this year.

Inland golfers, however, face the hazard not only of those caressing breezes, but there's the ocean there itself. Sometimes an ocean has the same soothing effect on a man's nerves as the cornet player in the next flat. The sea is there at your elbow, so big and blue, and let's see now—what is it we are playing—bean bag? Besides, look at the grand chance of infection with mal-de-mer!

Seaside golf, however, is pie to those British fellows who are to play Mr. Jones out at Pebble Beach. The ocean near at hand comforts them. Many of the courses in Europe border on the sea, and it is friendly to such men as Cyril Tolley, the 1929 British Amateur champion who will try to make the Pebble Beach tournament two in a row.

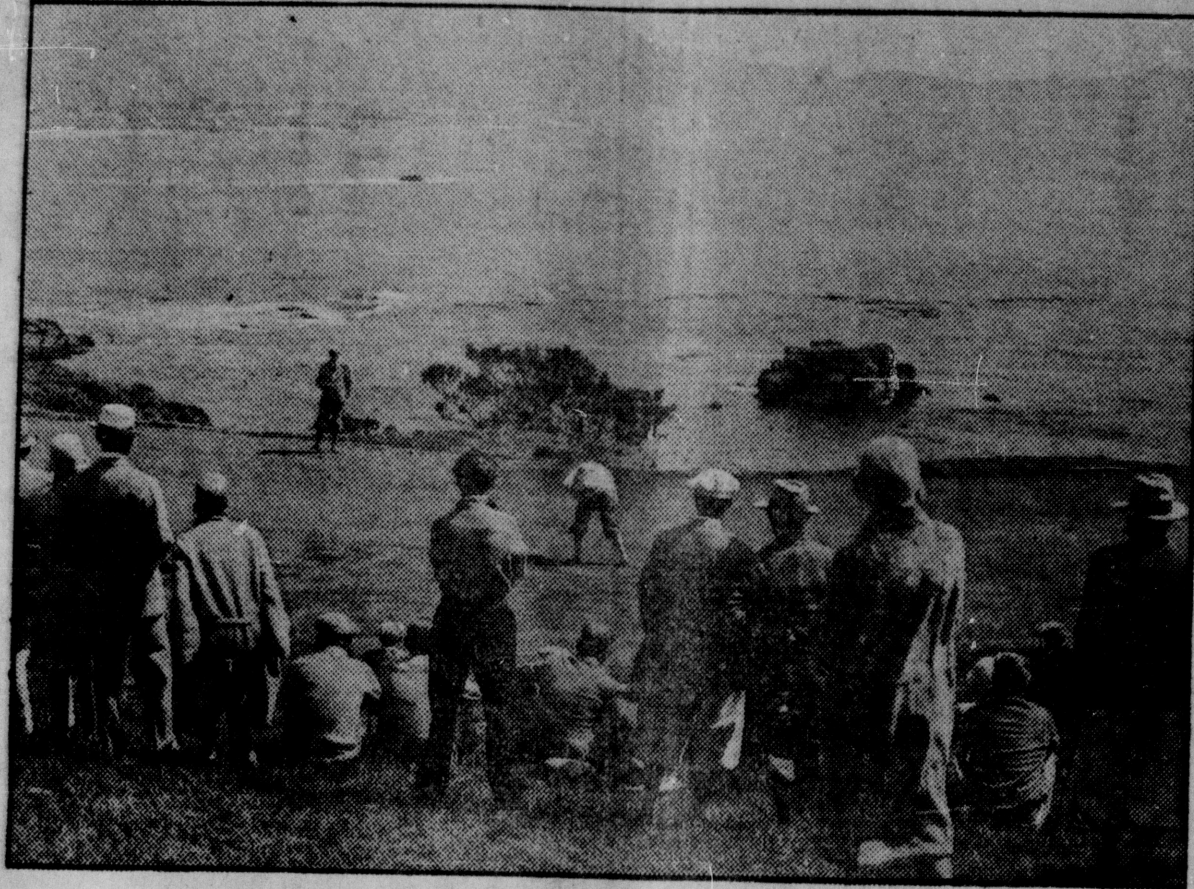

Tolley has a score to settle with Mr. Jones, just as Mr. Jones has a matter to adjust with Mr. Von Elm. Over at St. Andrews, the Atlanta lawyer took Tolley over the coals to the tune of 12 and 11. Tolley has been improving, however, ever since that drubbing, perhaps with the idea of just such a spot as Pebble Beach in mind. His golf this year has been excellent.

Taking these three men as finalist possibilities, the prospect for a deciding battle between Jones and Von Elm, Jones and Tolley, or Tolley and Von Elm is full of wonderful chances for the boys who are known as "color writers." These three men ARE colorful, interesting personalities, with storyful backgrounds.

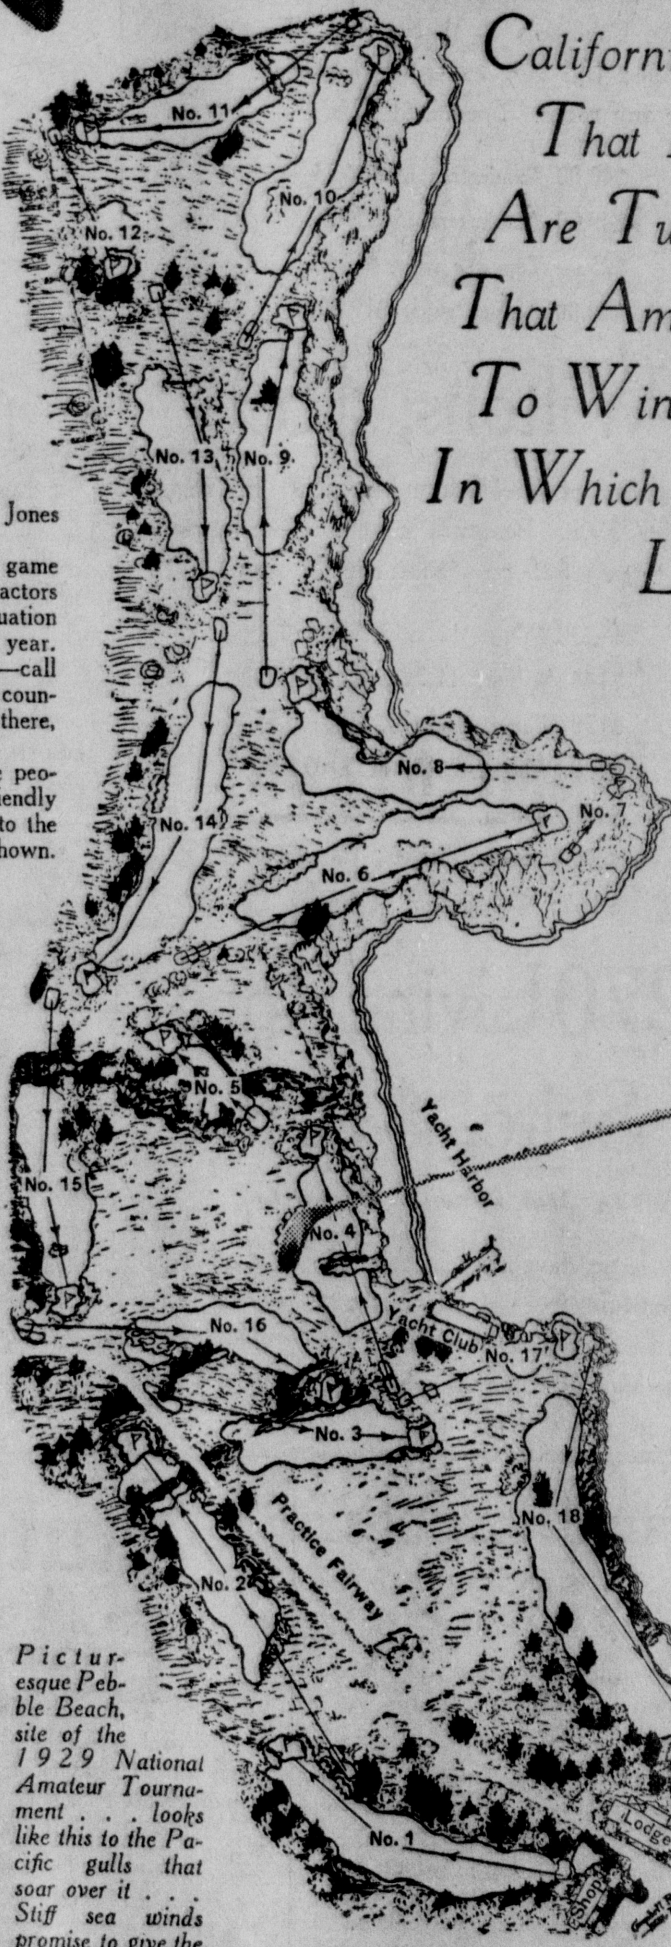

START off with the likelihood that Cyril Tolley will make the finals. Tolley is a Hercules of a man, and picturesque with it. The memory still lingers of Tolley sloshing through the mud at Brookline, Mass., in 1922, in a torrential downpour of rain. While most of the stars that year were struggling to keep close to 80, in the second round of the qualifying test, Tolley swam in with a beautiful 74.

The word swam here is used in a strict sense, too, as Tolley, on the home green, lay full length on his stomach, with water splashing about his aristocratic ears, squinting for "the line" on his last putt.

In rain Tolley shoots his best, and there may be what you might call a light mist coming in from the Pacific during Picturesque Pebble Beach, site of the 1929 National Amateur Tournament ... looks like this to the Pacific gulls that soar over it ... Stiff sea winds promise to give the boys a real alibi if their games are at 6's and 7's.

British Amateur Champ Cyril Tolley ... Used to playing in the face of tricky ocean winds, he may be the first Britisher to cop the American title since 1911.

when he won the Utah state championship. That has been 15 years ago.

Von Elm is shy. Interviewers find he has nothing to say. That is more or less true of Jones and Tolley, too, but with Von Elm, silence makes a terrific racket. He dislikes publicity and shuns words that might be construed as pats on the back for George Von Elm. Among his friends he is known as "Gix."

Von Elm's father and mother, both residents of Salt Lake City, have the distinction of having three sons, each winner of golf championships. Gix however has gathered the most titles. Besides his several victories for the Utah state crown, he has won the Pacific Northwest, Trans-Mississippi, California and other sectional titles and played on the Walker Cup team. George's brothers, Leroy and Leonard, have scored victories in local tournaments, but in the big national meets they "let George do it."

THAT leaves one more of this possible finalist trio to be taken care of—the young man from Atlanta. There is none in the world more colorful than he. On the golf course he is a machine, a kind of inspired machine to watch, as he shoots unerringly to the green through winds, rain, from behind trees, out of bunkers, from the clouds. Riots can't stop him.

Once, in an important game, Jones' ball fell into an empty shoe perched on top of a wheelbarrow. Jones played it out, shoe and all, hitting the brogan a tremendous wallop with a heavy iron. The shoe came flying out of the wheelbarrow and as it struck the ground, the ball trickled out and onto the green.

At Winged Foot this year, after a terrible start, Jones began recording 3's and 4's with all the aplomb of a mechanical piano in front of the old nickelodeon.

"That eighth hole ruined me," he told his friend and Boswell, O. B. Keeler, golf writer for the Atlanta Journal. But he went on to sink a 14-foot putt on the home green to tie Al Espinosa in the open and to beat Espinosa by 23 well placed strokes the next day.

By the way, where you see Jones, in that National Amateur at Pebble Beach, you are almost sure to see a tallish man with glasses and a defect in his walk, right along with the Atlanta lawyer. Some writers have said that Keeler is Jones, so closely does the Atlanta newspaper man counsel, accompany, help, comfort and shadow Jones. Interesting stories are told of how Keeler's advice and care have helped

The closer the match ... the closer these two ... Jones, right, and O. B. Keeler, the Atlanta newspaperman who is shadow, mascot and coach wherever Bobby plays.

Bobby in many of his greatest championship matches.

Jones gives everything he has to the game he's playing—and that's no more than a fair return at that, for golf gave the sickly boy his very life. Bobby took up golf when he was 5 years old, for that was his age when the Atlanta Athletic Club hired Stewart Maiden as its professional. Jones' home was opposite the golf course, and the youngster started playing with a sawed-off cleek one of the players gave him.

His spindly body and legs with the knobs of knees gave his parents and six or seven doctors plenty to worry about. But he followed Maiden about the course and copied and watched.

BOBBY was 9 years old when he won his first big cup, the Junior Championship of the Atlanta Athletic Club. His picture was printed in the American Golfer and made Bobby prouder than any accomplishment since. From that day to this Jones has been a golfer—even if his profession is listed as "lawyer." His driver is his most effective plea and "Calamity Jane," that deadly putter, is the Supreme Court of the links.

There will be winds and trees and bunkers an unfamiliarities at Pebble Beach for Jones to master, but he has beaten more than these—he has mastered Bobby Jones. He has demonstrated this year more clearly than ever before that the old uncontrollable, temperamental Jones has been defeated. Bobby Jones no longer throws away his sticks in anger.

Defeat helped to teach Bobby Jones the lesson of self-mastery. In his boyish days on the fairways, there was always a story in Bobby Jones missing a shot. At that period of his career, according to Bobby Jones himself, he deemed it perfectly natural for him to make a 10-foot putt. He knew how to make a 10-foot putt, therefore, why shouldn't he. Thus, when he missed, he blamed himself severely, his "dander" arose and usually resulted in his breaking a perfectly good putter or hurling it away.

A beating that Jess Sweetser gave him seven years ago in the semi-final round of the amateur championship round had something to do with Jones' changed attitude. Sweetser was shooting magnificent golf then, batting out a 69 in the morning round, while Bobby had a 74. Jess kept up the terrific pace in the afternoon, too, and buried the Atlanta young man under a score of 8 and 7.

Jones had wanted badly to win from Sweetser. But he saw that, shoot as he might, Sweetser was playing the better game. When you play the best golf at your command and still lose, the other man is playing better.

When the legions of masnie and niblick line up at Pebble Beach they will face a formidable foe, a man who has beaten more than his opponents in match play, more than sea-side hazards, more than the course record and more than bad luck and gallery adulation. They will have to reckon with Bobby Jones, the man who has beaten himself.

Another victory for Jones in this year's play would give him the honor of winning the National Amateur five times, and that is more than any other golfer has accomplished in the event. Jones won last year, at Brae Burn, defeating Thomas Perkins of Great Britain, 10 and 9. Jones also won in 1927, beating Chick Evans at Minneapolis, 8 and 7. In the 1925 finals Jones defeated Watts Gunn at Oakmont, 6 and 7, and the year before that defeated George Von Elm, 9 and 8, at the Marion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa.

JONES now is tied for the number of victories scored in the amateur. Jerome D. Travers having won the event in 1907, 1908, 1912 and 1913. Should Jones win this year, it would be his third successive victory, a new record for amateur championship play. Several golfers have won two of the championships in a row, H. J. Whigham having scored victories in 1896 and 1897, Walter J. Travis winning in 1900 and 1901, H. Chandler Egan in 1904 and 1905, Travers in 1907 and 1908.

The story of the tournament dates back to 1894 when 20 golfers got many laughs and little praise by pioneering the game in a championship tournament at Newport, R. I. This was prior to the organization of the United States Golf Association which has sponsored the event since 1895.

In all the years only one Britisher has won the National Amateur. He was Harold Hilton, of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club and he defeated Fred Herreshoff at Rye, N. Y., 1 up in 37 holes back in 1911.

FORMER BOXER CLAIMS POWER TO CURE ILLS

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 30.—A massive man, weighing nearly 300 pounds, who claims to be able to read nothing but the Bible, has established a "clinic" here where hundreds of persons flock daily to receive the touch of his hand in the hope of obtaining a cure for their ills through prayer.

AND WITHOUT SINGLE CLEW

When fire swept the beautiful country home of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle near Southampton, England, the famed author-spiritualist and members of his family dared the flames to salvage some of their household effects. Sir Arthur is pictured above, after the fire, surveying the few pieces of his valuable furniture which escaped destruction.

He is Harry Mays, former light-weight boxer, who says he was ordained a Baptist minister, and who claims that between 80 and 90 per cent of those who have come to him have been cured of various diseases through his touch and prayers.

Mays said he came from a very religious Quaker family of Pennsylvania. He had very little schooling and he can neither read nor write, he says, although he reads the Bible. He asserts he cannot decipher the meaning of the letters grouped on a newspaper or in a book but he reads the Bible by the hours. Mays first learned of his healing powers, he said, when he cured his wife of a headache. That led him to believe through prayer he could cure almost any ailment.

He exhibits testimonials from persons living in all parts of the country. Wheel chairs and crutches are found in the small building where he meets the halt, the lame and the blind, left there, he says, by those he has cured.

Some of the testimonials relate how he cured paralysis, stomach ulcers, cross eyes, blindness, diabetes, a splintered spine, fits—even the cigarette habit. One hundred persons a day pass through his room, on an average. On Sundays, several hundred will visit him. He sees them all, touching them and praying that their disease will leave or their crippled member become well.

Mays makes no charge. He conducts his clinic on the same order as a church. Those who desire to contribute can do so. Most of his patients are poor, many of them foreign born.

He goes from place to place over the country, stopping for a few weeks in various small towns. He does not profess to cure all illness, but he does claim the power to heal by prayer.

THANKS TO RED SOX
The answer to the question, "What have you to say now?" could be easily made by saying, "Nawthin!" But we have an ace in the hole.
We appear to be right in the National League Red Sox, but the Braves may double cross us in the National League.

HERE'S AN ALIBI
But we beg to remind that we weren't so wrong in the estimation of the Chicago Cubs in the National League. We said we were tempted to pick the Cubs to win the National league pennant. We didn't pick them because they had such a bad reputation as a road club last year.
They could knock off most any club in the league in any series in their own park, but when they went on the road they were almost sure to lose. Even the Phillies ate them.

The success of the Cubs on the road this season is largely responsible for the healthy lead that seems to have the pennant assured for them.

THE EXPERT IS PAINED
It causes us serious pain to our dignity when we recall that we named the Yankees, the Browns and the Tigers as the one-two-three clubs. And that we called

SCRIBES 'PREVIEW' $50,000 WILLOWICK GOLF LINKS HERE

Ralph Noble took a gambler's chance with his handsome and handy new $50,000 Willowick golf course on West Fifth street yesterday. He had the newspapermen of Orange county as his guests for the afternoon. The scribes dug divots all over the layout but left enough turf, investigations revealed, to allow for the scheduled opening of the "dailyfee" links Sunday morning.

Hardly more than four months of the layout tomorrow afternoon, old, Willowick will prove a genuine and agreeable surprise to Santa Ana's golfing fraternity, newspapermen agreed. The turf is firm, and the greens solid and fast. Eleventh hour improvements were being made today. Last minute touches were being applied to the clubhouse and workmen were giving the course a final trimming for the army of sportsmen expected to invade the place Sunday. The public will get a "preview"

Amateur Tourney To Be Picturesque

AIR OF GAYETY AT DEL MONTE IS UNEQUALED

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Editor)
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Aug. 30.

This promises to be by all odds the most picturesque and entertaining of amateur golf championships.

The air of camaraderie and gaiety at Pebble Beach on the eve of the tournament has not been equalled in the 33 years that amateur golfers have been competing for the title.

Whether next week's championship develops into one of the greatest from a competitive standpoint, depends, of course, on what one of the five opponents he must face at match play to win his title is able to do against Bobby Jones.

The Atlantan is taking on the leading English contenders in a practice round today, the foursome including Cyril Tolly, British amateur champion; Eustace Storey, popular young chap who wears silk gloves to protect his hands, and Francis Ouimet, who first broke up British golf supremacy in the historic playoff at Brookline 16 years ago.

Pebble Beach's vaunted par probably is in for another trimming for Bobby is hot. His 71 at Cypress Point Thursday indicated no let up on the part of the champion.

A question of some concern and uncertainty at the scene of the forthcoming championship today was just how many of the notables entered are going to be on hand at tee time Monday.

Johnnie Dawson, young Chicagoan who did so well at Brae Burn last fall and later threatened to carry off the British title, was definitely withdrawn. Dawson's case is peculiar and rather unfortunate, for he might have been one of the outstanding threats to Jones' supremacy.

The Chicagoan had been entered

WITH CUBS NOW

Here is "Slugg" Tolson of the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league club, called to the Chicago Cubs' firing line to take the place of Charley Grimm, first sacker, who is suffering a broken hand. Tolson was one of the big sluggers in the Coast league this summer, having a batting mark of .365, and 28 home runs in 131 games. He was used as a pinch-hitter for the Cubs in 1927 and on one occasion hit a homer with the bases full.

RICHFIELD OIL TEAM IN EASY TWILIGHT WIN

Remaining a serious threat for the second half championship of the Santa Ana Twilight league, the Richfield Oil company easily turned back the challenge of the American Legion Bugle and Drum corps in the Bowl yesterday. The score was 8 to 4, the Oilers virtually assuring themselves of victory in the first inning when they made four runs.

Richfield's aggregation made a determined bid for the first half title and now is separated from the league-leading Dennis Printers only by a postponed game with the lowly Courthouse crowd which the Oilers figure to win handily.

Clyde Trusty, Legionnaire pitcher, was not much of a riddle for the Richfields to solve. They plucked him for 11 hits in six frames, every man on the team but two getting at least one safe base knock. Miller hit a homer and Landell contributed a brace of doubles.

Landell's two-bagger, singles by Devine, Wimbush, Day and Miller, an error and Marston's sacrifice fly accounted for four Richfield tallies in the first.

The Buglers got one in the fourth when Poston doubled and Woods and Lapham singled, but this was forgotten when the Oilers came back in their half with two, scored on Miller's homer, Crafts' double and Marston's single. Doubles by Landell and Crocker and a single by Day completed the Richfield run-making in the fifth.

Stymied, 8 to 1, the Legionnaires put on a desperate rally in the seventh. Hits by Poston, Woods and Baker and a few wild pitches by Miller allowed the World war veterans three scores.

La Barba In Last U. S. Bout Tonight

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—Fidel La Barba will turn in his last right for many months in the United States when he meets Jackie Mandell in a 10-round main event tonight at the American Legion stadium.

La Barba and his manager, George Blake, will head east soon enroute to Europe where a campaign has been planned.

La Barba ranks the favorite in tonight's fray by a narrow margin. Fidel is counted as too smart for Mandell, who is a coming youngster.

$50 BOXER OF YEAR AGO WINS $50,000 MATCH

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Kid Chocolate's record of victories was unbroken today, but only after a furious 12-round battle in which the little Cuban Negro had to come from behind to win a close decision from Al Singer, Bronx boy, before $50,000—the largest crowd of the outdoor season—at the Polo Grounds last night. The gate receipts were about $225,000.

A whirlwind finish in the final round apparently gained Chocolate the votes of Referee Lcu Magnolia and Judge Charles F. Matson. The other judge, George Kelly, voted for Singer.

Rising from a $40 preliminary fighter a little more than a year ago, Chocolate collected about $50,000 for his share and today stands on the threshold of pugilistic greatness like no Negro fighter since George Dixon and Joe Gans.

Chocolate today boasted of the outstanding record of any fighter under 130 pounds. In 155 fights he has never lost a decision. Fifty-five of his matches have been in the professional ring, winning 33 of them by knockouts, and 21 by decisions. The only black spot on his record is a draw against Joe Scalfaro.

Chocolate conceded Singer almost four pounds last night, weighing 125 to the Bronx boy's 128-8/8.

It was a close, furiously-waged battle, in which Chocolate had to summon all his reserve to wipe out Singer's early lead and finish in front. Singer, who entered the ring a 7 to 5 favorite, carried the attack to Chocolate in the early rounds and had a long lead piled up by the end of the sixth. After that, Singer slowed down considerably and Chocolate gradually forged to the front.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Gentlemen (?) of the press, cynical buttinskys who ply you with questions even your banker wouldn't, came and saw but hardly conquered Willowick, Santa Ana's new, all-grass, nine-hole "dailyfee" golf course. Newspapermen are a sour, censorious, warped lot. They encounter so much hokum in their business they can't be much else. But Orange county's fourth estate was heaving favorable adjectives about this handsome little course before it reached the first green when Ralph C. Noble, general plenipotentiary, formally opened his costly layout for a newspapermen's "preview" yesterday. I don't think any of the scribes realized before just what a magnificent thing was this links.

This department is free and frank in stating its belief right now that Willowick will prove a healthy and wholesome addition to Santa Ana's recreational life.

It will give the little fellow, the chap who can't afford his club, a chance to enjoy golf and its advantages at a nominal investment. To me that is a good enough excuse for its existence.

Just West of River
Tucked away in the western section of the community, immediately west of the Santa Ana river, Willowick is an attractive and sporty but at the same time not too difficult course for the "duffer," as many of its patrons naturally will be.

The nine holes measure 2952 yards. Par is 35. There are three three-pars, four four-pars and two five-pars. The fairways are in remarkably good condition considering Willowick is little more than four months old. The greens are good—and fast. There are not many hazards but enough to keep you in trouble if you don't shoot straight.

You tee off a few yards west of the clubhouse and finish almost on its front stairs. You never retrace your steps on this course. None of the fairways parallel each other. You are always seeing new country and if you play like I do — plenty of it.

First Hole is Dog-Leg
The first hole, 404 yards, is a slight dog-leg and a par four. Rather narrow, the green is guarded by two traps.

The second is par three and to my notion a tough par at that. It is 231 yards, right into the wind, and a wide wash in front of the tee will make you hold your breath on the drive. This green is large but the approach is narrow.

No. 3, 466 yards, and par five, will be easy for the boys who hit 'em high, wide and handsome, although there is a wide trap to

LOUGHRAN NOW FULL FLEDGED HEAVY. CLAIM

BY T. J. O'CONNELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.

When Tommy Loughran, "Adonis of South Philadelphia" and at the moment light heavyweight champion of the world, steps into the ring with Jack Sharkey at Yankee stadium, New York City, September 26, he will be a full fledged heavyweight.

This, of course, is not remarkable for there have been many fighters who have naturally grown from one class into another. However, the case of Loughran is somewhat different for Tommy actually has grown in size and weight since passing his 25th birthday.

Loughran today is one inch taller than he was on November 29, 1927, his twenty-fifth birthday. This is very unusual, it is said, since all men are supposed to stop growing upward at the age of 25, just as women are supposed to at the age of 21. Tommy measures 6 feet and 1/2 inch today.

Weights in Public
It has generally been understood that Loughran has had considerable difficulty in making the 175 pounds necessary for the defense of his light heavyweight title during the past two years. Partial confirmation of this was given at Wildwood, N. J., on August 16 when Tommy permitted himself to be measured in public on the beach near his summer home here. The official measuring was done by Frank Houghkirk, who arranges for all of Tommy's athletic equipment. The Wildwood Chamber of Commerce, a group of fistic devotees and a "talkie" cameraman who registered everything that was done and said.

Those of us who have been unduly stunted in our development may take some satisfaction from the case of Tommy Loughran, I suppose. Not all, however, according to Joe Smith, Tommy's affable manager. You have to be Irish in order to hope with any reasonable degree of success, according to Joseph, and here is why:

Irish Slow to Mature
"Folks may wonder that Loughran grew an inch taller after he reached 25," declared Smith. "Yet, it is true of the race of big men among the Irish—and you know that Loughran, although born and reared in this country, has true Celtic blood running in his veins—do not really begin to mature until they reach the age of 25."

"This is a proven fact. The Irish are slow to mature, and when those of Celtic origin have a tendency to be tall and brawny they are even slower to mature than others of their race who are not as well blessed in physical endowments."

Smith doesn't consider it a bit

SHAKEUP LOCAL CLUB FOR LAST GAME IN BOWL

Their backs to the wall and nothing left but to fight their way out, Santa Ana's Stars adopted strenuous methods today in preparation for their third game of their past-season series with Whittier that will be played in the Bowl here tonight.

No less than three important changes in the local lineup are planned, it is understood.

Orville Schuchardt, flashy center fielder, probably will play first base, replacing George Preble.

His station in the outfield will be taken by Blanchard Beatty, sensational City leaguer.

Leavitt Daley, the City league's premier batsman, will play second base if it is possible for him to join the squad. He will replace Bill Foots.

Batting Power Added

This shakeup is expected to add considerably to the team's batting power and detract nothing from its defense. Schuchardt is the greatest flyhawk in night baseball and is a gamble what he can do on first base but Beatty, a fine defensive man himself, will be an able substitute in the outfield.

Santa Ana must win three straight to take the series from Whittier. The Stars lost the first tussle here, 1 to 0, in 11 innings, and dropped the second one at Whittier, 5 to 4. The games were tremendously interesting. Santa Ana wasting several golden opportunities to win both of them.

Although there was a little doubt about the pitching assignments, it is generally expected that Joe Ochoa will get the call for Santa Ana and that Lloyd Johnson will work for Whittier.

Ochoa had the Quakers on his hip Wednesday night when he lost his control in the fifth inning and started walking in runs. The usually placid fast-ball star let his temper get the better of him in that frame. He thought Umpire Seifort of Whittier was giving him all the worst of it, as far as that matter did all the other Santa Ana players, and when Ochoa's thermometer began to get the better of him, Captain Horace Snow wagged his finger and sent in Mearl Youel.

An Unusual Decision

Incidentally, Seifort, who was guessing them back of the plate, made one of the most unusual decisions ever recorded in night baseball when he called "Memphis" Hill out for leaving first base too soon the fifth inning. Orv Schuchardt was at bat and he hit a double, sending Hill to third.

The Whittier players protested to Frank Corey of Santa Ana, who was umpiring on the bases, that Hill, intending to steal second, left first base before the ball passed the batter. Corey said he saw no violation of the rules so the Whittier captain took it up with Seifort who called Hill out. The Santa Anans wanted to know how Seifort happened to be watching Hill at first base while a pitched ball was coming up to the plate.

Johnson is almost certain to work for the visitors. The veteran blanked the Stars for the first time this year here Monday and his selection is a logical one.

In the championship by his brother, George Dawson, a mighty good golfer himself, Johnnie resumed his work with a national sporting goods house, however, and the professional rule which provides such a nettlesome problem for the U. S. G. A. arose. Rather than be the center of a controversy, Dawson withdrew, although if he had wished to stand by the letter of the golfing law, he could have competed, as his entry was accepted by the tournament committee.

A number of other golfers who have an outside chance of getting through the big field and up into the spotlight have not put in an appearance at the Del Monte hotel which is the center of the pre-championship gayety. Jack Westland, former University of Washington boy, who recently won what is known as the French "Open Amateur" championship, is one of the most prominent players who is missing.

George Von Elm and Dr. O. F. Willing have come in for more than ordinary attention as a result of their brilliant practice rounds Thursday, when each equalled par. The gruff doctor got down every putt for his 72, while George's score was approximated, for both are regarded as likely semi-finalists.

'Tuffy' Griffith Kayoes Peterson

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—"Tuffy" Griffith, the Sioux City Iowan, who aspires to the heavyweight championship, hurdled another obstacle last night when he scored a technical knockout over Big Boy Peterson, Minneapolis.

Griffith was content to box in the first four rounds and won a decided advantage but Peterson came out in the fifth willing to slug and "Tuffy" obliged him. Peterson was too groggy to come up for the sixth round.

Griffith was the favorite today.

40,000 SEE START OF WRIGLEY SWIM

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 30.—George Young, winner of the Catalina Island Marathon swim, left the water at 2:04 p. m. today, as he finished the third of a scheduled eight laps in the annual Wrigley Marathon swim here. Young, the favorite, suddenly headed for the pier and was assisted to the dock.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 30.—A gun fired by the official starter, sent 281 swimmers, including two women on their way at 11:08 a. m. today in the fourth annual 15-mile Wrigley marathon swim here. More than 40,000 persons lined the break-wall along Lake Ontario to watch the long grind.

With a warm sun beaming down and the temperature of the water at the 61-degree mark, it was not expected that the entrants would suffer any of the discomforts that marked the 1928 race. None of the swimmers entered last year were able to finish because of the cold water.

SANTA ANA TO SEE WORLD SERIES TILT

Santa Ana will have at least one representative at the world series between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs.

George Lackaye, local automobile salesman, and Mrs. Lackaye will leave here Wednesday for an extended motor trip in the east, expecting to visit Yosemite, Yellowstone Park, the Black Hills of North Dakota, Madison, Wis., and Chicago. They will complete their tour in Detroit where Lackaye will visit the Graham-Paige automobile factory, and return to Santa Ana late in October.

Lackaye managed the Tiernan Typewriter company to a Santa Ana Night Baseball league championship. He plans to see at least two world series games in Chicago.

The Athletics are just about in now with the pennant and the Indians are almost a cinch to be in the first division.

The Tigers flopped when Uhle flopped. And the St. Louis Browns slumped when their young Mr. Crowder slumped.

THANKS TO THEM GUYS
When we look over the selections again we see that the great wonderful expert is not being betrayed by Washington, Chicago and Boston in the American league.

That's something to be thankful for.

CICOTTE STOPPED RUTH

Eddie Cicotte, who was barred from organized ball after the baseball scandal of 1919, used to have the Indian sign on Babe Ruth. He is the only pitcher working in 10 or more games against the big slugger that Ruth never hit for a four-baser.

The Irvine ranch has been closed to nimrods for several seasons although persons holding permits were allowed the courtesy last year. The rule will apply to all this season, however, on account of the fire hazard, Reed said. No permits of any kind will be honored.

SEPTEMBER AIDS FEMININE CHARM

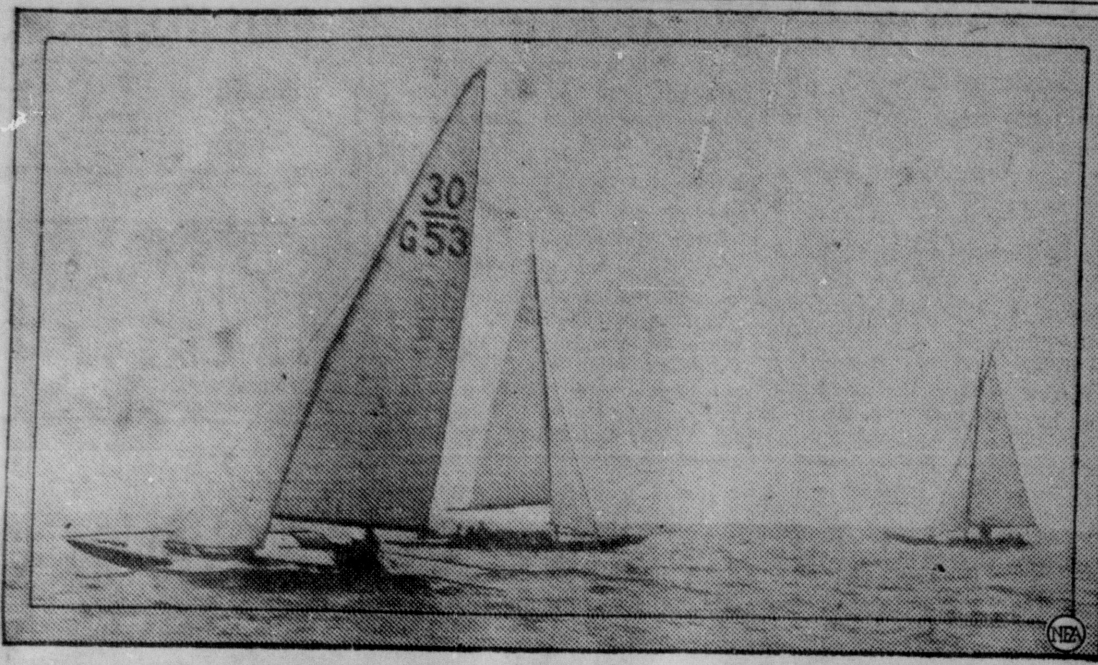

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Woman reaches her zenith of beauty in September; man appears his handsomest in December, according to Helena Rubinstein, beauty authority, in an address here before a group of clubwomen.

"December, January, and February tend to 'freeze' the complexion and bring hard lines; March, April and May bring 'blossoms' to the face as well as coarsen the texture of the skin; while summer produces a general feeling of listlessness which causes cheeks to sag, noses to shine, and eyes to become dull," she explained.

"In fall, and especially in September, the crisp breezes bring a new fire to the body, a fresh laughter on the lips, a vivid sparkle to the eyes. The joy of the game, symphony and theater, accompanied by an array of tailors and

'Pioneer Days' Displays At Fair Of Amazing Beauty

FLORAL EXHIBIT IN MAIN TENT IS RARE TREAT

Orange county folk who have not yet visited their thirteenth annual fair and seen for themselves the amazing beauty with which the prevailing theme of "Pioneer Days in California" has been worked out by the exhibitors have a rare treat in store.

Their pleasure will begin at the moment of entry to the main tent, when their eyes will fall on the truly amazing floral display, in which the Henderson nursery's petunias, Amling Brothers' choice roses, Macre's formal garden arrangement of cut flowers and ferns, the artistic garden of the Blanding nursery, the ferns of Robertson's nursery, Adkinson's tropical garden and landscaping effect, the cactus garden of the Anaheim Garden club and the Arcade nursery's adobe-walled garden, with its waterfall and choice flowers, blend into an exquisite picture that will be unforgettable by all who see it.

In the striking circle of the feature display, which succeeds the flowers, will be seen at once the attractive inclosure in which the Orange County Canyons club houses its display of 150 little feathered songsters, adjoining the scene of domestic tranquility offered by the Orange County Fruit exchange. In the latter, a mother and child repose on the verandah of a little bungalow home, while the husband and father works around the citrus trees in the orange-paved garden.

Formal Spanish Patio
La Habra's community exhibit features a formal Spanish patio, whose central fountain is surrounded with a wealth of fruits and vegetables. The historical old Yorba homestead is shown in the picture offered by Yorba Linda, in striking contrast to the orange and avocado groves of today's era of irrigation.

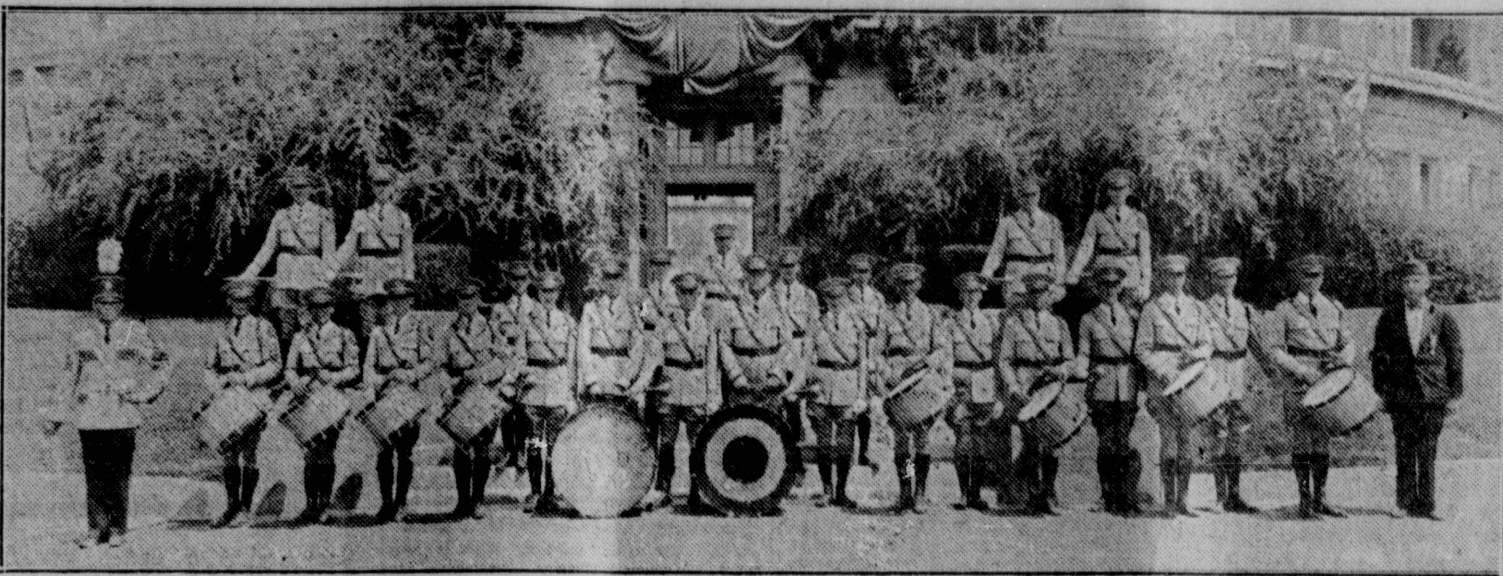

San Bernardino features her own National Orange show, with the great bear of California centering a magnificent display of fruits, but is not represented competitively.

The Spanish fiesta of the Orange exhibit, attracts much attention and is succeeded by a representation of the Boulder dam project, offered by the Metropolitan water district. One of the most original of the many arresting exhibits is offered by Garden Grove in "The Pay Streak," a hillside scene in which a true-to-life miner has struck pay dirt with golden fruits. The opening of the mine shaft nearby and a patient burro add verisimilitude to the effect.

Sutter's mill, famous as the scene of the first gold findings in the state has been reproduced by the Anaheim farm center, with clear water turning the small mill

MAYWOOD CORPS TO 'BUGLE AND DRUM' IN FAIR CONTEST

The snappy Maywood American legion Bugle and Drum corps, with a personnel of 28, will participate in the drum corps contest at the Orange County fair, Sunday night on the windup program of American Legion day at the fair. This is one of the groups that participated in the contest at the state Legion convention, in San Diego. There will be 10 other groups participating in the contest here, which, it is said, will be spectacular and colorful.

TEST WELL OF MELLON FIRM AT 700 FEET

COSTA MESA, Aug. 30.—The Western Gulf Oil company, of New York, with branch offices in Los Angeles, has a portable rig on land overlooking the ocean just south of the Newport Beach reservoir. The property is south of Seventeenth street and west of Monrovia street.

The oil company, it is reported, will put down a number of test holes along the bluff from this point on down to the Banning wheel. A representation in miniature of the old Irvine adobe house is Tustin's contribution, while the exploits of the Graf Zeppelin have offered inspiration to Buena Park.

Brea Scenes Reproduced
Brea scenes are reproduced for the exhibit of that community and nearby an aviary calls musical attention to the Orange County preventorium. The bell tower of the old Pala mission is shown by Escondido, with quantities of grapes and fruits of all varieties.

"Journey's End" has been chosen by Santa Ana and worked out most artistically in picture and modeling, as the overland caravan reaches the "journey's end" to the land of gold. Of the same period is the Indian attack on a wagon train entered by the office of the horticultural commission. Pomona's covered wagon and emigrant trail add color to the picture and emphasize the contrast offered by the Spanish patio of San Clemente.

A pyramid of tropical fruits, with ribbons leading to the various countries on a huge globe where the fruits had their original homes, attracts attention to the horticultural department's display arranged by Harold Wahlberg. The farm bureau also has an interesting exhibit of honey and bee products, entered by the bee keepers' department. The county library offers rare old volumes, now country-owned, in connection with other equally interesting books of the present.

HOOT OWL CAUSES JAIL EXCITEMENT

OROVILLE, Calif., Aug. 30.—It sounded like a jail break, all right. No doubt of it. Like tunneling and mysterious scraping and all that.

Jailers and deputy sheriffs at the Butte county jail strained their ears for several nights, trying to get a clue to the eerie noises. Daily the mystery became more baffling.

Then a trusty happened to look into the furnace. Two great eyes blinked out of the darkness. When he gathered courage to thrust in his hand he found a hoot owl. The bird apparently had become confused and tumbled down the unused chimney.

AUXILIARY OF FOREIGN VETS IN S. A. ELECTS

Selecting Mrs. Luella Randel to head their organization as president, the two dozen charter members of the newly instituted women's auxiliary of the Ernest L. Kellogg post, No. 1630, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, not only completed the institution of their chapter, but elected and installed their officers for the year at the session conducted by Mrs. Ida Toohey of Glendale, in Getty's hall.

Mrs. Toohey was assisted in the rites by Mrs. Mattie Robson, president of the Los Angeles county council, and other leaders in that organization. Visiting officials were warm in their praises of the interest manifested in the new Santa Ana auxiliary and promised to return at an early date with complete degree team, and exemplify all floor work of the order.

Mrs. Randel will be assisted by an official staff composed of Mrs. Mary Adrian, senior vice president; Mrs. Clara Doran, junior vice president; Mrs. Ardella Anderson, secretary; Mrs. Hopkins, treasurer; Mrs. Susie Jepson, Mrs. Chloe Showalter and Mrs. Ella Charles, trustees; Mrs. Lillian Hubbard, conductress; Mrs. Edna Camm, Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Bertha Dixon and Mrs. Slavens, color bearers; Mrs. L. MOVIE CONTEST PRIZE AWARDS ARE ANNOUNCED

Fifteen dollars in cash will be awarded to the author of the winning story in the Santa Ana High School Movie club story contest. This is payment at the rate of one and one-half cent a word for the winning story should it reach the limit in word length. Should a 500 word entry win the writer will receive three cents a word for his efforts.

The second week of the scheduled three-week contest is rapidly drawing to a close and prospective entrants are urged to submit stories as soon as possible.

Aside from the major prize of $15 in cash, there will be three other prizes in merchandise approximating $20 in value, which will be awarded for the second, third and fourth best manuscripts.

Already stories are being judged and unsuitable entries weeded out. Final judging will begin immediately after the closing of the contest, on September 7. Movie club officials announced today. Prizes will be awarded September 13.

With the announcement, today, of the first prize award, entries should be received in abundance during the final week of the competition, according to Ted Newcomb, Movie club president. "Now is the time for everyone to submit their pet theme for a motion picture," he stated. "Just a mere sketch of your story is necessary and no literary technique is needed to win a prize. The winning story will be seen on the screen in Santa Ana in January," he added.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Skirts will be long this fall, but stockings will continue to be the sheerest silk, according to style reports, and according to editorial comment upon the matter.

The editorial comment is from a male pen, of course, for who but a man would ever question why things should be any less extravagant whether they show or not to be demanded by women? If this were so, the lingerie market would have gone on the rocks aeons ago.

WHAT'S "DISORDERLY"?

And they're still arresting them for taking sun baths. The charge is "disorderly conduct." Maybe we'll be less heathenish some day—not that taking the sun baths is "heathenish," but that calling it "disorderly conduct" is. Maybe some day we will lose enough fears to taboo not to quail at the thought of a sun bath.

CAN TOTE NO MORE!

Californian waitresses may or may not rejoice at a recent piece of legislation which forbids them to carry more than ten pounds on their trays when they go up and down stairs, and never to carry more than 50 pounds.

On face value, one would think that they would be very glad just as on face value you would expect a woman worker to be glad when she is told that she may legally work only so many hours a day, that she may legally stand only so many hours a day, and that she may legally not work in a place which does not provide proper restroom facilities.

Making Your Hair Shine

Science has spilled the beans on this mysterious curative power mankind has attributed to the sun since the day Adam hid behind Eve's grass skirt; we now know that the sun is our most reliable source of vitamin D and that healthy growth is impossible without this vitamin.

Bringing this discussion down to a concrete application, why not give your hair and scalp the full benefit of sunlight from now until the days get too chilly for outside work?

If much swimming has left your hair rather stringy and lack-lustre rub warm OLIVE OIL—not just any old salad oil—into the scalp the night before you shampoo, rinse with lemon juice or vinegar, to cut oil and soap and again rinse to remove the lemon or vinegar, sit in the sun to dry hair, brush it vigorously when sufficiently dry, and massage with the sun beating into the scalp for a few minutes once a day.

We are inclined to envy animals of women will be just as disturbed by this ten-pounds-on-a-tray law as they will be pleased. For it means "special legislation" for women, the very thing which the National Woman's party fights with tooth and nail, reasoning that no employer will hire a woman, or at least hire her for the same wage as a man, if they must bother about all the demands of "special legislation."

They reason that because women work only because they must if they eat, and because they prefer any kind of a job to pleasant jobs, it's better for them to have the same working conditions as men as to have "protection."

It's often hard to say just who is right, they, or the other organized girls who insist that the abolition of special working protection for women undoes all that for which they have fought for years.

UPPERS, TOO!

Speaking of special demands made for women, if not of them, here's one specifically demanded of men. Controller A. E. Roth, of Stanford University (President Hoover's school, by the way) edicts that sun tan or no sun tan, students must keep their shirts on when on university grounds. This is especially aimed at those misguided miscreants who play tennis in only the lowers and not the uppers.

When one thinks of how women have been censured and ultimately against and forbidden to go there and here in short skirts and with no sleeves, such sartorial restrictions seem only fair, even if a bit silly.

their glossy coats but it is just this principle they carry out automatically that gives gloss to their coat. Massage, oil shampoos, exposure to the sun's rays, and a little everyday persistence will make any head of hair shine like a well-groomed pussy cat.

Tomorrow I am going to let the blondes in on a little secret for keeping their locks a golden yellow.

TODAY'S RECIPE

NOODLE SOUP

2 1/2 quarts chicken broth
1 cup minced chicken
2 eggs, well beaten
Flour to make thick dough
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 minced onion for seasoning soup

Assuming you have this amount of chicken broth left from cooking the chicken and pork used in making the pressed chicken loaf described yesterday, we will proceed with the noodle part.

Noodles to be edible must be prepared long enough ahead to let them dry out. If they are to be used for dinner mix the dough right after lunch. To the two well beaten eggs add half a teaspoon of salt and enough flour to make a very stiff paste—at least 1 1/2 cups of flour will be needed.

Turn onto the molding board and knead well for five minutes, roll out paper-thin then take this sheet of dough and roll it up. With a sharp knife cut off the thinnest of slices and when the whole roll has been so sliced, gently shake out these little rolls and spread loosely over the board. Cover with a tea towel and let them stay until ready to cook.

Have the broth boiling hot, season it with the minced onion, drop in the dried noodles and boil for 20 minutes. Just before serving stir in the cup of minced chicken.

About 2100 calories are in this quantity of soup, and there are generous portions for six. This type of soup is sufficiently nourishing to make the main hot dish for a light dinner. Served with a nice salad and your favorite dessert no one will go to bed hungry.

IN SEASONABLE SUNDAY BREAKFASTS, the current leaflet, you are offered menus and recipes for breakfasts that make Sunday a day to look forward to. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the menus and recipes offered free this week.

Green Pea Salad is the recipe for tomorrow.

'MELODY LANE' TO CLOSE RUN TONIGHT

"Melody Lane," featuring Eddie Leonard, last of the old time minstrel men, opened in the Fox-Walker theater last night and will be shown again today.

A double feature program is advertised, the other picture being "Black Magic," a Fox story of the South Seas, featuring Henry B. Walthall. "Melody Lane" is all talking and "Black Magic" is silent.

The Leonard feature is a story of a vaudeville family. The wife, Josephine Dunn, tires of the three-day schedule and with her young daughter deserts the husband, Eddie Leonard. She goes to Broadway, where, through the husband's influence, she makes good. The climax of the picture comes when the child falls and is hurt and Leonard comes to her bedside to sing her the songs he taught her when the family was united. The mother then realizes her love for her hooper-husband and all ends well.

Final showing of pictures of the landing of the Graf Zeppelin in Los Angeles also is made today. A Fox Movietone news reel completes the bill.

McLEAN'S PICTURE OPENS IN BROADWAY

"Divorce Made Easy," Douglas McLean's first all-talking Paramount picture, opens a three-day engagement in the Fox-Broadway theater today, following the close of "Salute" in the theater last night.

The picture is a comedy, starring, besides McLean, Marie Prevost, Johnny Arthur and Frances Lee. It has to do with a young fellow who takes upon his shoulders the task of aiding a friend in getting a divorce. The complicated situations he finds himself in furnish the comedy.

Today marks the last chance to see special Fox Movietone pictures of the landing of the Graf Zeppelin in Los Angeles.

Aside from the feature, "The Barber's Daughter," a Mack Sennett all-talking comedy; "Clowning the Game," a Grantland Rice Sportlite; Universal's Collegians and a Fox Movietone news reel complete the bill.

The Model Son

A Story of Conflict
Between Two Loyalties

By... Fannie Hurst
Highest Paid Short Story Writer in the World

MRS. YAWITZ knew she was blessed with a "model son." She also knew that the term had come to carry with it, a sort of ridiculous portent. Some wag had said that a "model-child" was one built in a small imitation of the real thing.

Mrs. Yawitz knew better. She knew that "model son," as applied to hers, meant the kindest, most considerate, most obedient and high-principled boy in the world.

Gentle old lady that she was, she would have clawed out the eyes of one who said otherwise.

As a matter of fact, there was no one who could have said otherwise. Ben Yawitz, a rotund little fellow with a kind, shining, circular face, short, dimpled hands and the gentlest eyes imaginable, was impeccably the good son and the decent, respected and respecting citizen. His picture-framing establishment, which he had inherited from his father, was known over the area of a large neighborhood for its reliability and good standing. The Yawitz family, which had consisted of three while the father lived, occupied the apartment over the store, and for thirty-six years had paid rent punctiliously for their premises.

Ben had developed the business nicely. He not only took care of a large neighborhood clientele, but handled the map-and-picture framing for two high schools and a large natural history museum in the district.

HIS mother always said of him that he should have been an artist. Possibly. He took genuine pleasure in the mounting and framing of the various bits of art that came to him, and was tireless at discussing the mounting of a bridal or communion photograph. He even dabbled a bit in water-color himself, and had once sold to a young bridal couple who set up housekeeping in the neighborhood a framed painting of the little street scene before his shop.

It had brought five dollars. Mrs. Yawitz kept the identical bill paid for it pinned to a little envelope of lavender sachet in her lower dresser drawer.

Another little characteristic that seemed to indicate that Ben came by his artistic bent honestly, as the saying goes, was the genuine love of music, not only of the son, but of the mother as well.

It was a not unusual sight to see the short, rotund Ben and his short, rotund mother, neatly, decently dressed, the two of them, setting forth of an evening (one of the three out of the week, it had to be, when the store was not open), for the opera house or concert hall.

A contented pair. A blessed mother, and a mother who was never unconscious of that blessing.

Of course, time and time again, up to the time Ben approached his forties, the subject of the possibility of his marriage had not only been discussed among friends and neighbors, but between the two themselves.

"I never want to stand in the way, son, of your marriage. No mother is entitled to a monopoly of the life of a child."

"I'm not the marrying sort, mother."

"You will be some day, son."

"Then there will be time to talk of it."

THAT time came, and yet, strangely and a little terribly, there was never talk of it between mother and son.

It had all come about like this: A neighborhood girl who had recently moved into the district, but who already had had time to acquire for herself the reputation of being "gay," came into the shop one day for the purpose of having a picture of herself framed.

Strangely enough, it was Ben's little clerk and not himself who took the order, but it was Ben himself who did the framing. It was an enlarged snapshot of Aimee McRae, taken at a beach. Tawny and blowing were her short, bobbed curls in that photograph, dimpled and adorable her short legs and, for a touch of nonsense, she slung a large, flappy sun-hat filled with sand. Ben could scarcely believe that it was not what he called a "fancy picture" until, on the day of its promised completion, the subject of it herself appeared, just as adorably saucy, just as piquant as the photograph.

It began to happen almost at once. Aimee, who had never even known, much less been loved by, any one of Ben's stability, was quick to react to the sense of protection. Ben might prove a dull evening's diversion, but he was a sure, good meal, a warm, first-class seat in a motion-picture theatre, and sometimes even a taxi. Aimee, naughty, shrewd, elfish and a soubrette, was quick to sense all that. She even put up with the occasional concert. It gave her an absolutely unprecedented sense of anchorage to go about with this quiet, serious-eyed, oldish-young fellow. She hooted about it to her friends and yet, deep inside of her, something cold was thawing.

Ben might prove a dull evening's diversion, but he was a sure, good meal, a warm, first-class seat in a motion-picture theater.

GRADUALLY it was borne in upon the troubled Ben that his mother's supposed reticence was not reticence at all. She did not know, apparently, by one of those miracles when the person most involved is the last to hear the news, the dear soul seemed absolutely innocent of the infatuation that was taking place under her very eyes.

To his shame, Ben felt a sense of relief and thanksgiving well into his soul. It was not that he was ashamed of Aimee, the dear, sweet elf, untutored as a gamin, a product of hard, cruel conditions, a small angel of delight. But somehow, try as he would, he could not visualize compatibility between his mother and this sprite.

She would not, could not, know about his mother, for instance, dear little foolishness that he did. And Aimee wore her blonde hair in a riot of careless curls over her head. To the mother of Ben, there had always been something untidy and brazen in a young girl who wore her hair bizarrely. Countless times she had commented on it, if such a head appeared in the few public places they frequented. Then Aimee was forever hitching her adorable shoulders to adjust a tiny gilt safety pin on her undergarment or stooping to pull at a wrinkling stocking. Quaint, dear things when Aimee did them, yet things that in the eyes of his mother, Ben knew, would seem bold.

WORRY began to nest in the kind, brown eyes of the little man. Anxiety for the precarious position in which he found himself with this girl who more and more, as time went on, was beginning to rest her battered little soul against the seclusion and safety he offered.

Ben began to realize that he was about to be confronted with the problem of the cruellest kind of renunciation a man can be called upon to make. Even to attempt to introduce madcap Aimee into the tidy, arranged, speckless life of his mother, was too fantastic to consider. Aimee must have realized it, too. She became furtive the moment the mother's name was mentioned. Clouds formed in her bright, blue eyes; sometimes the suspicion of tears.

They never discussed the small mother of Ben. They never dared. But always she was there, between them. Like a shadow. Like a dread.

There came the time when the soul of Ben, rent with doubt, with fear, with love, began to set up such a torment within him that he realized that between himself, his heart and his God, there must be a reckoning.

It was not fair to the elf Aimee, even though she was renouncing nothing more than a tawdry life, to encroach into her youth in this fashion. There was never hesitancy or doubt in the mind of Ben, though, as to what his ultimate decision must be.

To begin with, Aimee was outside the faith so scrupulously fostered by the mother of Ben. That in itself would be the equivalent of a dagger thrust into her faithful old soul. More than that, Ben knew, even though his pity and his love flowed out all the more to Aimee, that she had not been what his mother would have called a "good girl." Life had battered her, but to Ben the sweetness in the child which he was redeeming, more and more, was simply unsmirchable.

HE loved her. Strangely, oh so strangely, once you knew the elf of a girl herself, Aimee loved him. Not for the security he offered, not for the stability that in the beginning had drawn her. Aimee loved this round, little man because the soul in him burned like a lighted lamp for her.

She too realized that they were in for heart-break. Some things were too good to be true. This was probably one of them.

They came to be more and more silent together. The brooding, sad silence of something impending. Time and time again, Ben braced himself for the sacrifice. Time and time again, the sweet eyes of Aimee, pained before they were really hurt, disarmed him of intention.

And all the while their secret trysts went on. And all the while the name of Aimee never so much as crossed the lips of the demure little mother upstairs, living her life tranquilly in the warm protection of her son.

Life sometimes seems to have almost a persistent pattern. There came the day, finally, when Ben found the strength to take into his hands a situation that was rapidly becoming unbearable. He resolved to take Aimee to a motion picture theatre that evening, and, on the way home, stop in at an ice cream parlor they sometimes frequented, and try to find the words to tell her the heart-hurting facts of his enforced renunciation.

AT six o'clock, Ben closed his store as usual, to go upstairs for the steaming hot meal his mother was sure to have waiting for him. Foods that he liked, delicacies that has been especially thought up for him.

There, sure enough, on the table, steaming and fragrant, was his dish of soup, and opposite it, his mother's. She was already at her place, a smile on her lips, but her head so strangely backward, in a lolling position.

The mother of Ben was dead. Had died of heart stroke while she sat waiting for her son to arrive for dinner.

The smile remained, even after she was tilted in the front parlor in a softly lined mauve and black coffin.

That smile somehow became a beacon for Ben. It helped him, through the pain and bewilderment, to find his way to a decision that he came finally to realize his mother would have made had she lived.

What further aided and abetted him in this decision to make the little elf Aimee his wife, was a small object he found in his mother's lower dresser drawer, tucked under a five-dollar bill and a little envelope of blue sachet. It was a bit of his mother's handwork. An embroidered piece of trousseau lingerie, with the name "AIMEE" worked into the hem.

Half the cost of operating station WAPI, Birmingham, is shared by the city each month. Practically half of the entire operating cost goes toward the salaries of the employees.

Make Swimming Compulsory, Aim Of School Chief

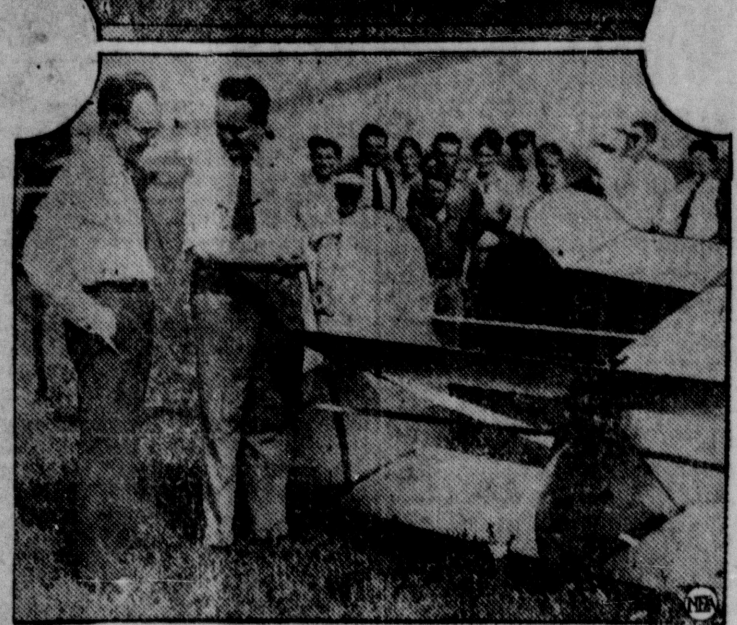

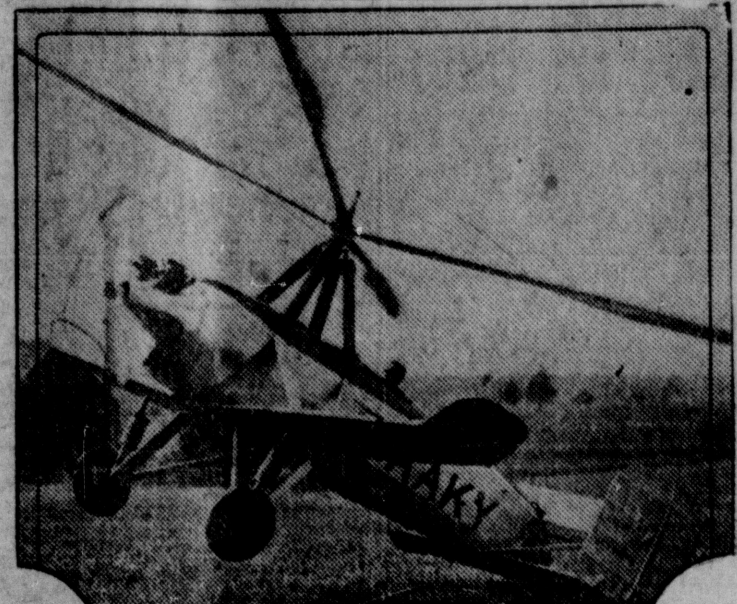

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 30.—The old gag of—"and don't go near the water" may soon be modified by the state department to read—"and you must go in the water."

For Vjerling Kersey, director of the department, proposes to make swimming compulsory in high schools. Ability to swim would be as necessary a requisite to graduation as ability to dissect and angle.

"Such a program would save hundreds of lives each year," commented Kersey. "People apparently will go in the water, whether they can swim or not and we propose to teach them how to swim."

IT HAS ITS UPS AND DOWNS

Anyone can fly this autogiro plane after eight or 10 hours instruction, according to claims of its makers. The improved model, which takes off in less than half the space required by an ordinary plane, is pictured above as it landed, tail-skid first, during successful tests at Philadelphia. It descended almost vertically and rolled only a few inches after touching the ground. Note the four propeller-like blades whirling above the cockpit. Below is a close-up of the autogiro's biplane tail. The bottom surface of the tail is fixed, with the top one acting as an elevator and equipped for tilting in starting. Juan de la Cierva, 33-year-old Spanish inventor of the craft, is shown with Harold Pitcairn, left, owner of American patent rights on the autogiro.

Lemon ice for cool dessert

Easily made by this special recipe

BOIL for three minutes 2 cups of sugar, 4 cups of water and rind of one lemon. Remove the rind. Add $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of lemon juice, cool and freeze.

This is all there is to it, and you have a delicious and cooling dessert.

Food scientists teach us the value of sweet desserts. They show us that such desserts satisfy the appetite and enable us to quit eating with an enjoyable feeling. For dessert remember the value of cakes, cookies, candies containing chocolate and coconut. Remember stewed apples and apricots. Candied, spiced and preserved fruits. Prepared dates and figs. Canned fruit salad and grapefruit, and gelatine desserts.

The dessert should top a meal containing milk, fruits and vegetables. Variety—tastefully prepared—is the key-note of healthful diets. Meat and cereals are important in daily nourishment.

An endless variety of enjoyable desserts may be purchased today, or they may be made in the kitchen. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

RIVERSIDES

Why you can save
$2 to $15 on every tire you buy at
WARD'S

MILLIONS OF MOTORISTS, all over the world, already ride on RIVERSIDE Tires—and still more millions soon will.

You will agree that . . . with the Super-Service RIVERSIDE guaranteed for a minimum of 30,000 miles—the First-Quality RIVERSIDE guaranteed for a minimum of 16,000 miles—and the WARDWEAR for 10,000 . . . these tires simply must be tires of quality!

And then—on comparing RIVERSIDE prices with many other high-grade makes that are not officially guaranteed for any specific mileage—you are astonished to find that at Ward's your saving per tire ranges from $2 to $15!

It's surprising. You are frankly puzzled. You discovered, long ago, that there's no such thing as "getting something for nothing." Therefore, when you find, in tires, high quality, provable quality and guaranteed quality . . . coupled with prices so low they seem to contradict all that . . . you "wonder," don't you?

You needn't! For the simple explanation lies in Ward's plan of selling to the user direct.

Instead of cutting quality in any shape or manner, we merely cut out most of the in-between profits of ordinary distribution! Thus you are protected at both ends of your transaction: on Quality, by the guarantees . . . on Economy, by the unusual savings of Ward's low prices.

Do you know of—or need—any better reasons for putting Montgomery Ward & Co. tires on your car? . . . Or any better arguments than these facts proving why you save $2 to $15 on every tire you buy?

Don't buy any other tire unless more miles are guaranteed!

New and Improved..

THIS is an announcement to all users of Agmel. It is also addressed to all prospective users who are interested in this great health food—this valuable tonic in high blood pressure, kidney deficiencies, indigestion, glycosuria.

You have probably seen Agmel in the new glass bottle which has replaced the familiar tin container. It is the same Agmel—known so long and favorably in this community. However, it has been improved in both taste and appearance and its efficiency has been considerably increased. It is the finest concentrated sap of the maguay plant that has ever been produced.

As before, Agmel is imported from Mexico. But an improved vacuum process is now employed in the concentration of the raw sap. The latest type of vacuum reducing equipment has been installed in the center of the maguay growing region of Mexico and the raw fresh sap is concentrated every day as soon as it is gathered from the plants. This new method makes the relation between fresh aguamiel and Agmel closer than ever before. In fact, Agmel is aguamiel or maguay sap with the surplus water removed.

The new glass bottle holds a sufficient quantity of Agmel for a whole month's use. Get Agmel at your druggist's. Most druggists sell it.

Annual Dahlia Show Is Attracting Interest

MANY ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR FLOWER EVENT

BUENA PARK, Aug. 30.—Numerous entries are being received by the committee for the annual Orange County Dahlia show, to be held in the Masonic temple, Buena Park, September 20 and 21.

One of the main features this year is a silver trophy offered by the Buena Park Woman's club for the best arrangement of garden flowers exhibited by a garden club or garden section of a woman's club. This exhibit must be in one receptacle and arrangement and number of varieties are considered.

Another interesting feature is the community exhibit, a collection of 18 dahlias, any type, to be entered in the name of the town where they are raised, and selected from the gardens of any person, persons, horticultural or other organization of the community. A silver trophy to be won three times for permanent possession is the prize offered for this exhibit. The Fullerton Chamber of Commerce was winner of this award last year.

The grand sweepstakes prize of a silver cup donated by the Buena Park business men is to be awarded the exhibitor who wins the most points for entries of dahlias. This cup must be won three times for permanent possession.

Blue and red ribbons are given for first and second awards in each class and prizes will be given for all first awards.

Competition is open to every amateur grower in Southern California and there is no entry fee.

WATER EXPERT

"Sis" (Frances) Blewett, who thinks women learn to swim quicker than men. She says those who complain they don't get any "breaks" in life ought to try swimming.

Miss Blewett Declares Confidence Needed In Swimming

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 30.—"How do you learn to swim in six lessons?" asked a skeptic of "Sis" (Frances) Blewett, swimming instructor at the Huntington Beach plunge.

"It's mostly confidence," replied the instructor. "Fear in the water is disastrous. You know it is largely lack of confidence that lets us sink instead of swim in the sea of life. In life some say they don't get any breaks. In swimming the breaks and breakers are alike to all."

"Sis" Blewett comes of a Los Angeles family famous in athletics. Four brothers are athletic coaches. Jim Blewett coaches at Manual Arts high in Los Angeles. Bill Blewett is coach of the L. A. fire department. John Blewett is athletic coach for the U. S. Marines at San Diego, and Dick Blewett is coach at Santa Rosa junior college. There was another brother who was a star in football, as were all his other brothers. He was killed in a football game at U. S. C. "Dode" Blewett, a sister, is another famous woman swimmer and is now in training for a swim from San Pedro to Catalina island, a swim that no woman has ever succeeded in negotiating.

"Sis" Blewett claims that women and girls learn to swim sooner than men and boys. She did admit that in the end the women are no better swimmers, probably not as good as the men, as they are not physically as strong.

BEACH POLICE OFFICERS SEEK MACHINE THIEF

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 30.—Seal Beach and Los Angeles police are making a special effort to capture an auto thief who has a new plan and a bold one. He stole a car from Sixth and Alameda streets, Los Angeles, August 24, drove to Seal Beach for a few days' outing on the beach; stole another car from Third and Ocean avenue in Seal Beach August 26 and left the Los Angeles car in its place. The Los Angeles police found the Seal Beach car at Vernon and Alameda, a few blocks from the point where the first car was stolen.

The first car, a Nash roadster, was owned by Harry Ogden, of Taft, who had driven it to Los Angeles and parked it at Sixth and Alameda. The second stolen car, a Studebaker 1927 Commander, was owned by Helen Marr Brown, of 41 Chestnut street, Long Beach. She had driven it to Seal Beach and parked it at Third and Ocean and walked over to the beach. Ten minutes later she returned and found the Nash parked on the spot she had left the Studebaker; and her machine gone. The Los Angeles police located it at Vernon and Alameda. Both stolen cars were returned to their owners.

M. E. Watson, 1218 Spence street, South Pasadena, reported to Seal Beach police that his coupe was stolen at Anaheim Landing August 18. Police Pour Liquor Into City Dump

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 30.—Liquor flowed like water in Seal Beach yesterday afternoon. The police emptied into the city dump ground a collection of confiscated liquor that had been accumulating for six months at police headquarters. There were dainty little bottles each holding two ounces of liquor. These bottles filled with home brew, retailed for 50 cents each around public amusement places. Chief Johnson and his officers had collected several dozen when the source of the supply was determined and a raid made several months ago.

Another liquor supply that went into the dump ground was contained in soft drink bottles. Common soda water bottles, coca-cola bottles and bottles of that type, placed in cases, were kept along with cases of soft drinks. The police found the bottling plant a few weeks ago and broke up the game. They dumped the last of the liquor from this bootleg factory yesterday.

Other liquor destroyed had been confiscated in jugs, kegs and barrels.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BOY'S LEG BROKEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 30.—Donald Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Mitchell, of 1113 Delaware avenue, suffered a broken leg in an accident at his home Thursday. The boy was riding a bicycle and rode against some wallboard that was standing against the side of the house. The wallboard toppled over, striking the boy on the leg, breaking both bones of the right leg below the knee and half way between the ankle and the knee.

The child was rushed to the emergency hospital on Walnut street, where Drs. Ralph E. Hawes and Bert W. Hardy set the broken bones. The father of the boy is employed in the oil field by the Standard Oil company.

For the past eight years the name of the Broadway Meat Market has been your guarantee of highest quality meats at the lowest possible prices. THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The circus boss was glad indeed that he had spread a dandy feed for all the little Tinymites. 'Twas fun to see them eat. Said he, "Go on and eat your fill. We have a lot of time to kill." "Oh, we have eaten all we can," said Scouty. "Twas a treat."

The boss then pulled a big surprise. Soon, right before the Tinies' eyes, appeared a monstrous platter full of ice cream. Oh, how grand! "Oh, my," he heard the whole bunch roar, "We think we'll have to act some more." And so they ate of ice cream till 'twas really hard to stand.

"Now right back to the tent we'll go and get all set for our next show," the friendly boss exclaimed. "I think I have a plan in store. You've been as good as you could be and brought my big tent back to me. I've treated you to quite a meal, but you deserve much more."

"Tonight, when we put on our show, I want the audience to know that you are star performers, so I'll dress you up like kings. An elephant you all shall ride and have a servant by your side. Within a big old trunk of mine we'll find some classy things."

They found the trunk and looked inside and very shortly Clowny cried, "Oh, gee, what pretty clothes are here. Let's hurry and get dressed. Nice crowns and silver tinsel, too. And everything looks just like new." The Tinymites put on the clothes and all looked at their best.

A horn then blew within the tent and on parade they gaily went. The elephant that carried them was acting very proud. The folks who came to see the show were tickled. They said, "Ah!" and "Oh!" And, as they started cheering, every little Tiny bowed.

(The Tinymites get a fine present in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Thirteen and one-half acres situated at Santa Isabel and Santa Ana avenues in Santa Ana Heights have been leased by the Oil Well Engineering corporation. It was announced today.

The tract is approximately two miles north of the company's wildcat well at Placencia and Seventeenth streets, Costa Mesa. This well is down 2900 feet and has had excellent oil showings, according to reports.

Owing to the tremendous gas pressure in this well the company has installed a heavy gas control valve and has ordered another from Santa Fe Springs.

The company has secured a water shut-off and hopes to make a production test tomorrow.

The Mesa Petroleum corporation, which drilled a deep well on Nineteenth street in Costa Mesa, hopes to make a production test in the near future, it is said. New casing has been ordered, it is said. The well is reported to be down 7500 feet.

CARILLO SAYS HE CHARGED $25 FOR INSPECTION

charge was too high. He stated that there was no official connection between the traffic department and Carillo and that he was confident that Carillo could not be bribed to pass a man who would not satisfactorily take the examination and make the qualifying grade.

Carillo asserted that he had special questionnaires printed, in Spanish at his own expense which carried thereon the questions and answers as shown on the regular questionnaires issued by the state motor vehicle division for the use of persons making application for an operator's license and that he conducted classes in the subject and assisted the applicants in filling out their cards. He also stated that he did not collect the fee unless the applicant passed the examination.

The petition covers various other phases of the activities of Carillo. It asks that the Grand Jury in addition to the general investigation of the office decide on the legality of his practice of charging fees for assistance rendered to Spanish speaking people in getting their licenses; that it investigate those whose authority he has been delegated to take charge of this work; that it investigate his alleged practice of charging a fee of $25 to Spanish speaking people for making out immigration papers; that it terminate by court action or other means within its power the practice of conducting a private business in the office of the county interpreter located in the court house and using his time, which is paid for by a salary from the county, for private gain; and that it check the number of such fees he has collected.

The petition follows: To the Honorable James L. Allen, Presiding Judge of the Superior Court, County of Orange.

We, the undersigned residents and voters of Orange County, do hereby petition your honorable court to convene in special session, the Orange County Grand Jury, for the following purposes, namely, to-wit:

(1) To investigate thoroughly, the office of County Court Interpreter at present maintained in room 102 of the County Court House, and the actions of the present incumbent, one Charles E. Carillo, by name.

(2) To decide upon the legality of his practice of charging fees for assistance rendered Spanish speaking people in securing for them their 1929 auto driving licenses.

(3) To investigate by whose authority he has been delegated to take charge of this work. Whether by county or state officials.

(4) To investigate his practice of charging a twenty-five dollar fee ($25.00) for making out immigration papers for Spanish speaking people.

(5) To terminate by court injunction or any other means within its power, the practice of the above named Charles E. Carillo, in conducting a private business in the office of the County Interpreter which is located in the County Court House, and in using his time, which is paid for by County salary for private gain.

(6) To investigate and check upon the number of such fees he has taken in and the length of time this practice has been going on.

THE NEBBES—Come On Dough

NOW THAT'S THE SPIRIT—YOU SHOULD BOTTLE SOME FOR BLUE DAYS—I HOPE IT'S BROUGHT ABOUT BY AN IMPROVED FINANCIAL CONDITION AND I CAN GO AND DO SOME NECESSARY SHOPPING.

NO, THE MONEY HASN'T STARTED TO ROLL IN BUT IT WILL COME—THIS IS 'THE BUSINESS'—I THINK OF THE SAME PICTURE RUNNING IN OVER 200 PLACES THE SAME NIGHT—HOW THE DOUGH WILL POUR IN AND I HOPE IT WON'T MAKE YOU UPPISH.

AND LOOK AT THE MEN THAT'RE IN THE GAME—ALL AMASSED GREAT FORTUNES AND I'VE COMPARED MYSELF WITH MOST OF THEM AND I'VE GOT TO SAY, IN JUSTICE TO MYSELF, I STAND OUT LIKE A SILVER DOLLAR IN A CHURCH BOX—NO, YOU CAN'T START SPENDING MONEY YET BUT YOU CAN PRACTICE IT AND READ UP ON IT SO YOU CAN DO IT GRACEFULLY.

CLEVELAND RETAINS MANAGER

The city of Cleveland a few days ago voted on the question of adherence to the commission form of government. This was the third time such an election had been held, and the commission form of government was retained.

Arrayed against the commission form were practically all the politicians of the city, including the political boss, former Mayor of the city and Governor of the state, Harry L. Davis, who after his first administration was defeated for re-election. On behalf of the managerial form of government were practically all the religious organizations of the city, the women's organizations, and the independent citizens generally. It was considered a victory for good government, and this in spite of the fact that there has been a general belief that a very considerable influence on the city manager has been exercised by some of these same politicians. They were against the present form because, while they still retained some influence, it wasn't so easy to get possession of the "swag" as it used to be in the good old days.

It is entirely possible that now, with a complete array of the politicians on the other side, a degree of independence in the management will be attained that will cause even a greater support for it in the future than at the present.

With all its difficulties it is known to be better for the people's interest than the former plan. The managerial form of city government has been a very marked improvement in almost all places where it has been in force, and this is particularly true when the political machine does not in any sense control the new order.

The city's business is a big business, and all big business has centralized authority. One man is held responsible, and he, in turn, sees that things are accomplished. When the responsibility is placed on one man to handle the affairs of the city, he naturally, as does any other manager, looks to the reduction of expense and the purchase of supplies with the idea of making such a record as will insure him a continuation of employment, as well as carry on the business of the people in an efficient and proper manner.

In the old days, when matters of improvement and business relationship between the city and the seller of either supplies or service were engineered by the members of the city council, the tendency always was for each of the city councilmen to so conduct his part of the negotiations as to satisfy his constituency in his district, or at least that section of his citizens who could insure his election. Many times men take positions on questions diametrically opposed, under such circumstances, to what they would take if they could appeal to the whole city to vindicate their action. In other words, the interest of the whole is frequently sacrificed to the interest of the section or the few. This is obviated in a managerial form, and as we have said, responsibility is located. Under the councilmanic form buck passing is frequently the chief indoor sport.

Santa Ana has a combination of the two. The city council adopted an ordinance under the provisions of which they could select or elect a city manager. He has been under their direction and while we believe there has been some improvement over the old order, yet the council has the final responsibility and authority, and in fact can do away with the manager, if they think it wise, which has been done recently. Our manager gives up office on the first of September, a purchasing agent is retained and the salary of the manager is saved.

Whippet races in Ohio are causing a heap of legal argument. Whoops! The law has gone to the dogs again.

WINE TONICS

We have taken occasion to criticize the Hearst newspapers for their attitude on prohibition enforcement. On Thursday an editorial appeared in the Los Angeles Examiner under the title "Wine Tonics in Whiskey Flasks." A portion of this is well worth re-publication. It says in part:

"Here's something new," said the drug store clerk to an Examiner reporter. "It's called 'Mount Lassen' and is made on a port wine basis. I'm sure you'll like it. You see it is put in a regulation whiskey flask and is easily carried on the hip."

"Not only is it easy, it can be safely carried on the hip. It serves all the purposes of a 'shot of booze' and entails no special risk of being shot on suspicion of carrying 'booze'."

"The wine tonic addit is as safe in the transportation as he is in the consumption and purchase of strong liquor."

"His liquor is actually stronger than the average wine, but because it masquerades as medicine he may buy and drink it freely without the need of a doctor's prescription."

"Prescription liquor limits the customer to so much in so many days, but there is no limit on the consumption of high-power tonics."

"There is something on each label about the size of the dose and the number of times the 'medicine' or 'tonic' should be taken daily, but every man is his own tonic physician. He can prescribe for himself and partake as he pleases."

"Medicine is something taken with a wry face, but these tonics are partaken with a smile at the label."

"But the greatest of all the evils in this wide open traffic in a palatable substitute for 'booze' is the fact that children may buy it as freely as adults, if they have the price."

"The price is the only consideration in the sale."

"Boys and girls are tipping out of the bottles that father and mother buy and consume in large quantities."

"Their systems are being ruined by hard liquor and excess amounts of drugs of which they have no need."

THE UNBEATABLE HELEN

Helen Wills continues her unbroken chain of tennis victories. In America and in Europe she has met all contestants, and the result is always the same. Miss Wills is undoubtedly the most remarkable woman in the sports world today. Added to her ability and her fine sportsmanship, there goes a fine womanhood. No cigarette advertisements for Helen Wills. No cheap scandals are connected with her name. She moves in the world of publicity a model for young womanhood.

It is a pity that there are not more of her type. Like her unsavory competitors for the headlines, she has more headlines than them all. But it is always in connection with her chosen sport or her artistic hobbies. She has become the idol in the best sense of all those who believe in womanly sports. None who was recently received in audience by the Queen of England carried herself with greater modesty, and none was so much the centre of the people's attraction. Wherever she went she was greeted by crowds. No one has been photographed more by the newspapers. It is good to know that the public at large does recognize a real sportsman when it sees her, and are ready to acclaim her not only for excellence as a tennis player, but also as a type of finest womanly character. Helen Wills is a credit to the world of sport, and she is a credit to America. We have reason to be proud of her achievements in both the sphere of sport and character.

Some people have their vacation to look forward to, and others are trying to stage a financial comeback.

EXTEND USE OF TENNIS COURTS

Some time ago we emphasized the idea of the use of the swimming pool of the high school by the public during the summer. We are certain that the school board is favorable to this idea, and undoubtedly in another season much value and fun may be had by the general public during the summer time there.

Tennis is becoming a game which is being indulged in by more and more people, and the hours when the tennis courts might be used could be doubled if flood lights were utilized, so that evening play could be enjoyed. The expense of flood lights is very small, and many citizens, we are sure, would join in this fine sport, and utilize the grounds during the evening hours. This would insure the citizens getting a greater return on the investment we are placing in recreational grounds.

Helium All In U. S.

Oakland Tribune

The Zeppelin-type dirigibles which the United States is building will be filled with helium gas which, because it is not inflammable, is the very best for such use.

Passengers on ships filled with helium are allowed to smoke; they exhibit less nervousness when approaching lightning storms. It is because the United States has at Amarillo, Texas, the only supply of helium-bearing gas in magnitude sufficient for large scale production, that this country is given an unusual advantage in experiments with craft lighter-than-air.

Before the war, helium was produced in laboratories at a cost of $2000 a cubic foot; in 1926 the price was reduced to 3.4 cents the cubic foot and it is now 2 cents. This latest reduction of 1.4 cents the cubic foot would mean a saving of about $91,000 in the filling of one of the big ships now being built for our Navy.

The enormous advantage possessed by this country which has the only large supply of helium gas would be the more marked in time of war. All other dirigibles would be filled with the inflammable hydrogen gas. In peace times, the advantage is to mean that this country will see the greatest development of the dirigible airship.

It's Good to Be Back Under Your Own Roof

San Francisco Chronicle

You probably have noticed that about this time of year one of the expressions most commonly heard is: "Well, it's good to be home." The returning vacationist may wax enthusiastic about the whole he hooked in the trout stream or the eagles he scored on the links or the sun blisters he endured on the beach. But he usually adds a postscript that John Howard Payne was right, and there's no place like home.

There really isn't. And the nearer it comes to being home in the permanent sense the truer is the sentiment. There is a thrill in the consciousness that you own that spot of earth and that shelter upon it. It is yours. After the temporary pleasures in hired habitations have begun to pall on you here is refuge, here is sanctuary to which no one can say you nay.

Perhaps after all, the greatest value of vacations may be in the renewed satisfaction that comes in returning to your own home, a satisfaction that continues indefinitely with a thousand facets if the home is really yours.

Own your own home.

Good Old Sunshine Has Power to Cure Many Things

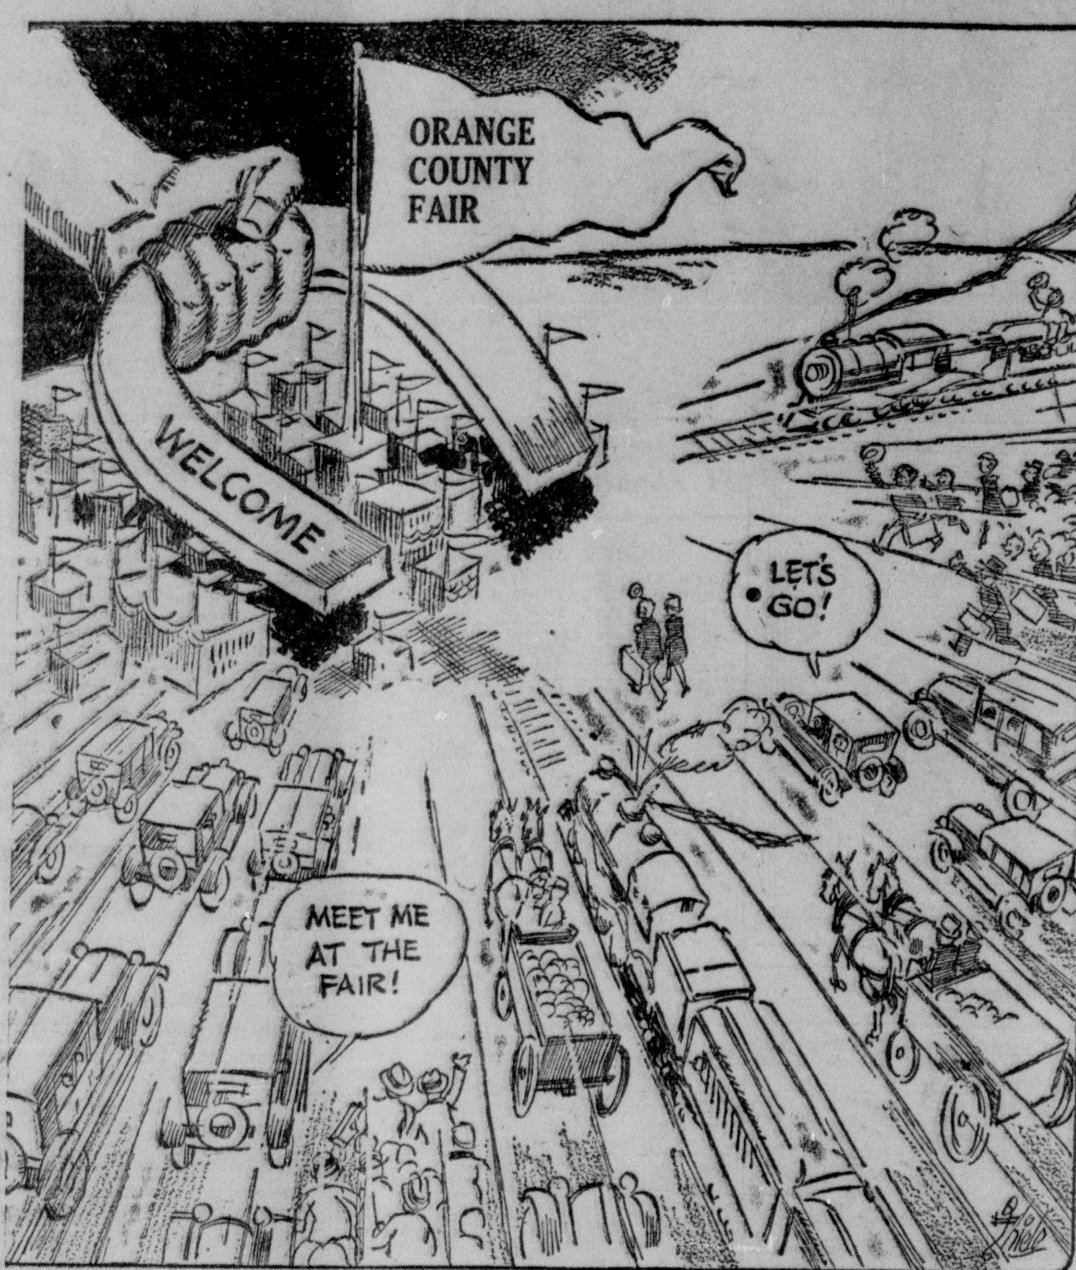

San Bernardino Sun

If it exists, ultra-violet rays and cod liver oil may ultimately cure a distressing situation. So many girls are cock-kneed, Mr. Florenz Ziegfeld has found, that he has had to clothe his Follies chorus in long skirts.

Rickets in infancy, the United States public health service says, causes knock-knees, bow legs, flat feet and so on. Under proper direction, give baby cod liver oil and plenty of sunshine and he or she will have strong bones and not have rickets. As is also pointed out, the day may come when the windows of all homes will be equipped with window glass which transmits the ultra-violet rays in the sunshine; but in the meantime the thing to do is to expose baby's body, judiciously and for short intervals at first, to direct sunlight on bright warm days.

Within 20 years or somewhat less, therefore, Mr. Ziegfeld may be able to make a different report.

The Big Attraction!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE NIGHT WATCH

The owl is often handy by,
When shadows hover deep,
To sing a midnight lullaby
While little children sleep.
And though they hardly hear his song
Of woods and fields and streams
It ripples echoing along
Their happy little dreams.

The robins all are wearied out
What time the sun has gone;
Through all the day they flit about
Across the velvet lawn,
And when the night time calls to rest
They perch with drooping wing
Above the mud and straw built nest
Too fagged to chirp or sing.

And then the owl, from far away
Observes "Too hoo-hoo-hoo-hoo,"
Which is his owl's way to say
"I'll stand the watch for you!"
Then till the round and golden moon
Has faded in the sky,
He flutters here and there to croon
His sleepy lullaby.

The bats that flutter to and fro,
The cats that prey and prowl,
The crickets in the bushes know
The music of the owl.
And while the little children sleep,
From dark to dawn it seems Like distant melody to creep
Throughout their happy dreams.

Our Own Success-of-the Month Story

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

He was a private in the rear ranks of the Army of the Unemployed. But he didn't like army life at all—especially this kind. So he went to the Commissioner of Labor and asked for a job.

As inducement, he offered experience in building roads and muscle.

The Commissioner of Labor shook his head. "Sorry," he said politely. "Can't use you. Why don't you try practicing law?"

"But," objected the applicant, "I'm not a lawyer. I'm only a laborer. Just the same, I want to eat."

"Oh," said the Commissioner, brightening. "Why didn't you say so in the first place? I can fix that up. I will give you a card to the Associated Charities and—"

"But I don't want charity. I want to WORK for what I eat."

"That's too bad," said the Commissioner. "That complicates matters. Now, if you were willing to eat WITHOUT working, I could—"

"No, I want to work. I want to build roads."

At that point, the Commissioner, never partial to fanatics, lost patience. "Well, you can't—not for THIS state."

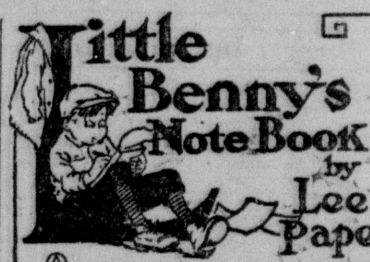

"Can't I?" asked the man thoughtfully.

Then he went away—still hungry.

That night he held up a woman and took away her handbag. It contained a vanity case, a lavender handkerchief, and three telephone slugs. The desperado was sent to the state penitentiary.

"I attribute my success," he said, in an exclusive interview granted to THE GO-GETTERS MONTHLY, "to knowing what I was after. In spite of all obstacles, I found the work I wanted to do. I am building roads—for the state."

All of which proves what so many people have long been saying: "Any man who really wants a job can find one."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

SCHOOLS AND EGGS

A short time ago I was called upon to speak in a community in which a rabid attack was being made upon the high cost of education.

The leaders of the attack were demanding a program of retrenchment so far as local school costs were concerned. Many figures and much talk had been offered to prove the exorbitant burden of education in that community. Retrenchment programs seem to run in waves to the dismay of superintendents of schools and other professional educators.

But what does a retrenchment program for schools mean?

Whenever rumors of a retrenchment program for education come to my ears, I am always reminded of an experience I had during a winter in New York City when I went out to buy some eggs. As I walked along Amsterdam avenue, I observed that eggs of apparently various qualities were advertised. In one store "fresh eggs" were offered at fifty-nine cents per dozen. In another window "strictly fresh eggs" might be had at eighty-one cents the dozen, while again "selected Leghorn eggs" could be purchased at the comparatively dear figure of one dollar and eight cents a dozen. Inasmuch as I was a struggling graduate student at Columbia University the reader can easily understand that I was as poor as the proverbial church mouse. But, despite the flattened condition of my pocket-book, I always bought the dollar-eight-cent eggs.

Making proper allowances for admittedly inherent differences, school and eggs are much alike. When a community demands a reduction in the cost of schools, it must accept a corresponding deterioration in the quality of its schools.

It is impossible to decrease the budget of a school system and preserve the curriculum of the school. Many people fail to realize that a school budget is simply the financial interpretation of the school's activities.

Each dollar of the school budget represents some specific offering of the school. This thought is well illustrated by the attempt of the common council in an Eastern city to reduce the school budget some one hundred thousand dollars. To the surprise of the council when such a reduction was proposed, no protest came from the superintendent of schools.

However, the council received a rather severe jolt when the local newspaper announced that the high schools for the following year would be abolished. The council had expected a general shaving off, but the superintendent of schools knew that the night schools needed a hundred thousand dollars and could be eliminated better than anything else. Needless to say, the night schools were held.

Salaries of school teachers cannot compete with the commissions of bond and insurance salesmen. But as long as the citizens of a community want good schools they must be willing to pay a good price.

School buildings, like homes, must be renovated and repaired. Schools, like eggs, may be cold storage, stale, or fresh.

What kind of schools do you want? Only on the basis of such a query as this can a community decide if it will reduce its expenditure for education.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

A PROFESSIONAL MANNER

The atmosphere of the home ought to be warm and friendly. The grim manner of the stern parent should have no place there because children thrive best in a surrounding of love and affection. This love and affection must be demonstrated again and again throughout the day so that the child feels himself wrapped in it.

But there are times when a purely professional manner is needed. A mother will find it very convenient if she can cultivate it. When a child is frightened or hurt or very ill, when a tantrum is on full force, when a burst of anger is imminent, in family crises, the professional manner, the professional calm and the steady hand and eye, are beyond price.

When the little one throws himself down on the floor and kicks and yells it is no time for kisses. Wipe out every sign of feeling from your face no matter how your heart is jumping. Once you can steady your face your hand will steady itself. Pick the screamer up and carry him, in silence as far as you are concerned, to the bathroom and undress him, bathe him, splash his face with cool water, lave his arms and wrist with it, and put him to bed. Do this in your best professional manner and the tantrum will subside and the next one be delayed in coming.

Children crave excitement. When they get into trouble they enjoy a certain feeling of importance. If they can make you stand around and wring your hands and cry aloud, if they can provoke you to temper, or to tears, they enjoy it immensely. They are not to have that excitement. They are to be met each time by a calmly professional manner. They don't enjoy that at all but it will do them a world of good and save the mother and nurse an enormous amount of energy.

It is not alone for the children that a mother should have the power of the professional manner. The emotional wear and tear of a family is very hard on a mother. If she enters into every childish mood, shares every childish fear and every childish crisis she is worn to the raw edge before long. The professional manner is a shield between her and this worrying waste and pain. The children lose nothing of her affection but they gain from her poise and strength.

Father knows the use of the professional manner. He uses it all day in association with his fellows. His employees are kept on an impersonal plane. Their woes and their aspirations and their emotional lives are not reduced to him. They cannot touch him unless he lets down his shield. In the home this is impossible, even were it profitable, which it would not be. But a touch of the right manner will save a mother much fatigue and help her children establish self control.

Next time the little one runs across the street instead of shrieking, steady up, go after him calmly and surely, and lead him to where you want him. That is a good place to begin.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

FORT MIMS MASSACRE

One hundred and sixteen years ago today, on Aug. 30, 1813, more than 500 men, women and children were massacred by Indians at Fort Mims, a temporary stockade 35 miles north of Mobile, Ala.

The massacre was the first outbreak in the Creek war in the southwest. About 553 persons had sought refuge with the garrison at the fort, under the command of Dixon Bailey.

Although Bailey had been warned, they were surprised by a greatly superior force of Indians under the half-breed Weatherford at noon August 30. Though they offered brave resistance, virtually all of them were killed.

The result of the massacre was that Alabama was almost abandoned by the whites. Terror and desire for revenge took possession of Georgia and Tennessee.

The Tennessee legislature voted to raise men and money to aid in the fight against the Creeks. General Andrew Jackson soon took the field, and the Creek campaign lasted only seven months.
